UNIONS FACE HEAVY LOSSES IN NEW SUITS

First 5 Actions Under Taft-Hartley Act Ask Over Million Damages.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27—A survey showed today that labor unions face claims for $1,285,000 or more in damages in the first five suits filed under the Taft-Hartley law.

The miners, steelworkers and teamsters—three of the nation's most powerful unions with combined national treasuries of $38,000,000—are defendants in four of the suits.

The latest was filed yesterday in federal district court at Pittsburgh. W. J. Dillner Transfer Co., Pittsburgh, seeks $485,000 damages from the teamsters (AFL) and their international representative, Albert O. Dietrich. The company alleges seven work stoppages in violation of contract, including the so-called "Pittsburgh beer war" over jurisdiction with the United Brewery Workers (CIO).

To Contest Claim

An AFL lawyer here said the claim will be contested. He said an effort will be made to test the constitutionality of the act's provisions making unions liable for damages.

Yesterday's claim is not the largest made under the damage suit provisions of the new act in effect since its passage last June 23.

A $500,000 suit was filed July 23 in federal court in New York by the Independent Fur Manufacturers association against the furriers joint council, an affiliate of the Fur and Leather Workers union (CIO) headed by Ben Gold.

The association of 10 employers names the Fur Wholesalers Association of America, Inc., as co-defendant. It claims the union and wholesalers group have conspired to establish a secondary boycott in violation of the Taft-Hartley law.

Other Suits

In other suits:

Moskowitz brothers, junk dealers, Cincinnati, O., wants $100,000 plus damages from the AFL teamsters for an alleged secondary boycott. Suit filed early in August in federal court at Cincinnati, O.

Globe Co., Chicago, asks $75,000 from United Steelworkers (CIO) for calling a strike July 14 in violation of no-strike clause in contract effective to April 1, 1947. Suit filed July 30 in Chicago.

The teamsters also are being sued for $420,000 by 33 Aurora, Ill., meat markets and grocery stores for an alleged boycott. The action, however, was brought under an Illinois state law prohibiting boycotting.

All the Taft-Hartley suits were filed under provisions of the law that "suits for violation of contracts between an employer and a labor organization . . . May be brought in any district court of the United States having jurisdiction...without respect to the amount in controversy..."

Grounds for Damages

The act further provides that any money judgment against a labor union is enforceable only against the union and its assets. Boycotts, strikes for recognition and jurisdictional strikes are listed as causes for damage suits.

Labor unions fear these provisions could wipe out treasuries accumulated through the years. Union sources said today the amount being asked in suits filed thus far have only aggravated their fears.

Damage suits have been legal only 64 days and the first five suits filed in that time seek an average $257,000.

Parents and Teachers Take Part In Educational Conference Here

Parents and teachers representing various schools of the county participated last night in the program of the Marion county schools workshop held here this week under direction of D. T. Mills, county superintendent of schools. The session, second of the week-long conference and workshop schedule, was held in First Presbyterian church as was the first session Monday night. Workshop groups were scheduled to meet today through Friday at Hotel Harding. Secured for the week were a group of specialists prominent in the fields of education and juvenile research.

Chosen to represent teachers and parents in the discussion period last night which followed presentation of the topic, "Current Practices in Reading and How We Can Improve Them," was the following group, Mrs. William Guthery of LaRue, Mrs. Forest Loudenslager of Morral and Mrs. Oliver Hamilton of the Grand Prairie school district, parents, and Mrs. Genevieve Bracy of the Prospect kindergarten, Mrs. Ruth Young of Prospect elementary school, Miss Esther Williamson of Pleasant Township school, Miss Lois Roberts of Claridon school, Mrs. Genevieve Everett of LaRue school and Mrs. Melba Swick of Waldo school.

Session Speakers

Speakers were Dr. Leland Jacobs of Ohio State university's college of education, formerly of State Teachers college, Ypsilanti, Mich., and Dr. Wilfred Eberhart, professor of education at Ohio State in the field of junior and senior high school literature.

Dr. Jacobs covered the area of pre-school kindergarten and early elementary education, pointing out the trends in emphasis placed on the value of proper and adequate pre-school training. As an example, he spoke of a child's learning to walk. "The child begins to learn to walk when he first squirms after birth," he declared, and as a parallel to this, he explained that the child's first mental effort is a gesture toward the desire to learn.

A chief value of adequate kindergarten training in the field of preparation toward reading readiness, he said is the same as its value for complete preparation for living, both involving the emotional, physical and social as well as the mental aspects of the child's development. In the reading-related field of spelling, he maintained that spelling should not be taught as isolated words, but that best teaching procedure is using words in creative expression. When the child sees the purpose of learning to spell, when it means something to him in relation to his other experiences, then he will learn to spell more readily, he contended, with the same idea holding true in learning to read. "Reading materials must be relevant to experience," he stated.

Dr. Eberhart spoke in similar vein concerning junior and senior high school readings and literature.

The discussion period, with many persons in the audience taking part, was led by Mrs. Verna Walters, state supervisor of elementary education, state department of education, in Columbus. She is one of the group of specialists who are directing morning and afternoon workshop sessions.

TOBACCO MEN SEE U.S. LOSS

Say British Economic Move May Crimp American Industry.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27—Britain's decision to cut its American agricultural purchases as part of its economic belt-tightening may put a permanent crimp in U. S. Tobacco exports, agriculture department experts said today.

These experts said the British buying cutbacks will not affect American farmers generally or result in any drastic change in prices here. But they will have an important effect on certain specialized commodities.

Chief among these are tobacco, dried fruits, and dried and frozen eggs. From a consumer standpoint the effect on eggs may be welcome since it will tend to keep prices here down during the fall and winter.

Grain Is No Threat

Britain also has been importing tremendous amounts of U. S. grain and some meat. But the U. S. will need to keep more grain at home in view of an impending livestock feed shortage. Consequently even reduced Britain grain buying is likely to take as much as the United States can spare.

The British, because of their continuing dollar crisis, recently decided to pare food imports $48,000,000 a month. As a substitute they plan a program aimed at stepping up British food production 20 per cent by 1941-52.

U. S. Officials Concerned

American officials are deeply concerned with the possible effect of the program on tobacco exports. They said any American egg or dried fruit exports which might be cut out by the program probably can be absorbed by this or other countries.

"But tobacco's a different matter," one expert said. "During the war, our GI's distributed millions of cigarets in Britain and cultivated taste for American tobacco. If they don't get it, they'll turn to something else and lose that taste.

"There is an acute danger that any losses sustained on the British tobacco market now may become permanent."

This country was hit hardest by Britain's new "austerity" program because the terms of the $3,750,000,000 British loan required Britain to do a large part of its foreign food buying in the United States.

Ohio Reports 163 Cases Of Polio Thus Far in '47

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 27—The state health department said today 101 polio cases had been reported in Ohio thus far during August, boosting the year's total to 163.

Both figures include 39 cases reported officially from Summit county. Department officials said they had indirect information there were some 80 cases in Summit county, but official reports had not been received on that number.

The 163 figure compares to 204 cases on the same date a year ago, and 390 for the peak year of 1944.

VACATION HALTED BY AUTO ACCIDENT

Marion Couple Injured Shortly After Start of Trip.

A vacation trip planned by Mr. and Mrs. John Runkle of North Main street ended abruptly yesterday when the car in which they were driving was involved in a collision less than an hour after they had left Marion.

The collision which resulted in injuries to the couple happened on route 4 about 40 miles north of Marion near Attica O., at about 10:30 a. m. yesterday. A truck driven by Ebby of Lancaster, Pa. was the other vehicle involved.

Mr. and Mrs. Runkle were northbound on route 4 and planned to make their first stop at Elyria, where they intended to visit Rev. and Mrs. Glenn Babcock, former Marion residents.

Mrs. Runkle is suffering from a back injury and possible internal injuries, Mr. Runkle was bruised and is suffering from shock. A passing motorist brought the couple back to Marion. The car was badly damaged.

Cleveland Pair Play Pinochle To Settle Marital Difficulties but Man Reneges

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27—A 1,500-point pinochle game was played to settle the divorce quarrel of a west side couple, Common Pleas Judge Burt W. Griffin was told today.

The wife, Mrs. June H. Weiss, 24, charged her husband, Seymour, 30, reneged on his promise not to molest her after he won the game.

Weiss in turn charged his wife, mother of three small children, refused to dismiss her divorce suit against him as she had agreed to do if she lost at pinochle.

Weiss, the judge was told, had agreed not to contest her divorce action if he lost.

Mrs. Weiss said she had no real intention at any time of bargaining her affections at the riffle of a pinochle deck, but played the game only to avert a brawl and satisfy what she called her husband's "theatrical emotions."

"The husband proposed to her a pinochle game of 1,500 points," Attorney Morris Morgenstern representing Mrs. Weiss, told the judge.

"He asked Mrs. Weiss to call in a disinterested neighbor as a witness to see that the game was played above-board. This was done.

"The winner to take all. That is, in case the husband won, he would have her love and she would dismiss her divorce petition. If she won, he agreed to stop annoying her and would not contest her divorce.

"Although the husband won, he chased the witness out of the house and threw a bottle at him, saying he had been [illegible] to the wife and [illegible] as a referee," the attorney said.

RIO TREATY IS READY FOR PEN

Brazilian Officials Expect To Sign Defense Pact Next Tuesday.

By The Associated Press

QUITANDINHA, BRAZIL, Aug. 27—Brazilian authorities whipped up plans today for the formal signing next Tuesday in Rio de Janeiro's glittering Itamaraty palace of an historic defense treaty under which 19 American republics agree to fight jointly against any aggression in the Western Hemisphere.

These authorities confidently expected President Truman would advance the date of his scheduled visit to Brazil in order to be present for the occasion in the home of the Brazilian foreign ministry and made arrangements for a whopping welcome.

May End Monday

A high Brazilian government source said the inter-American conference of foreign ministers at this resort was expected to wind up next Monday and although the U. S. President's visit had been scheduled for Sept. 5, He was expected to revise his plans so as to be able to address the closing session.

President Truman also is expected to be a guest of honor at Brazil's independence day celebration Sept. 7 and head for home the next day aboard the battleship Missouri.

Conference committees yesterday approved more than two-thirds of the body of the projected defense treaty, which calls for swift military action to put down aggression in a vast "security region" stretching from the Antarctic to the Arctic and from Hawaii to the Falklands.

Other Parleys Set

Creation of a joint military mechanism will be undertaken at Bogota next January. A bolstered hemisphere economic system will be sought in a special conference late in 1948.

All of the American republics except Nicaragua, which was not invited to this conference, and Ecuador, whose status here is in doubt because of a weakened coup at Quito, approved the U. S.-sponsored proposal binding each of the nations to join in fighting aggression in the Western Hemisphere "security zone."

The security zone includes Alaska and Greenland, as well as Canada, and there was speculation Canada might later join as a signatory of the treaty.

New Scherff Store Set To Open Friday

Formal opening of the new H. C. Scherff Furniture Co. store located on South Prospect street at the edge of town will be held Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening, it was announced today.

Construction of the new one-story building was started last spring and was just recently completed.

The company was previously located at 381 West Center street.

Mrs. Roosevelt Denies Implying Farley Was "Social Inferior"

By International News Service

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said today James A. Farley displayed a "remarkable memory" in his recent "Why I Broke with Roosevelt" articles in which he quoted the former first lady.

Mrs. Roosevelt sharply denied in the September Ladies' Home Journal that she told Farley: "Franklin finds it hard to relax with people who aren't his social equals." She added:

"I am deeply grieved to find that Mr. Farley was not the person I thought him. It never occurred to me that Mr. and Mrs. Farley felt themselves in any group different from that which we in."

Sees Misinterpretation

"It is always possible that something you say may be misinterpreted, but that happens in the other person's mind and not in your own mind.

"I am quite sure the remark which Mr. Farley quotes in his so-called autobiography could never have been made by me, since I never have had such thoughts."

She added:

"I have always liked people, as did my husband, for what they were as individuals, and we enjoyed ourselves and relaxed with people of many and varied backgrounds.

"It is true, however, that if you have similar interests and beliefs it may be easier to relax . . . Unwittingly in some way I, who was responsible for purely social matters in the White House, seem to have hurt both Mr. and Mrs. Farley.

Expresses Apology

"For that I am genuinely sorry, but I never treated them any differently from any other member of the cabinet."

"Mr. Farley's tremendous emphasis on purely society questions during those years when the really important things were the new policies on social questions of the day shows that apparently Mr. Farley thought so little of those objectives that he did not even think them worth mentioning in these first articles."

In the same issue of the magazine Mrs. Roosevelt said she thought "it would be a great pity if a third party came into the field."

Mrs. Roosevelt declared: "I shall work in the Democratic party. As congress goes on its way, there have emerged a few liberal Republicans but when you balance one party against the other, the balance is still in favor of the Democrats."

EVICTED PAIR LEAVE CHILDREN IN CHURCH

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 27—The parents of four small children, who said they had spent more than 30 months wandering about the country in search of a home, were brought to domestic relations court today to answer charges of contributing to the delinquency of three of the youngsters.

Police seized the couple, Frank Gillespie, 26, and his wife Geraldine, 24, yesterday after their three sons, Daniel, 4, Steven, 3, and John, 1, were found unattended in Holy Name Cathedral Sunday night.

Gillespie said in an interview he and his wife had left the three boys in the church "because we thought it would be best for them." Their fourth child, Margaret Ann, 5, is living with Mrs. Gillespie's mother in Fence, Wis.

Gillespie said the family had lived in from 80 to 100 hotel rooms across the nation and in Canada. He and his wife slept in parks after leaving the children in railroad station nurseries or bus depots, and that he took odd jobs just to get a place "to be home for a few night."

"We've been evicted from so many places that I've lost count," he said. "The landlords always said they'd let us stay if it wasn't for the kids."

After leaving Margaret Ann with Mrs. Gillespie's mother, the Gillespies came to Chicago a week ago to resume the search for living quarters.

"It was beginning to rain Sunday night and we'd been to an orphanage, police station and the Salvation Army looking for a place," Mrs. Gillespie said. "I was tired. Then we got the idea to put the children in a church because we felt they'd get good care there. So I put them in Holy Name Cathedral and we watched from across the street until they were found."

SET RETURN OF REWARD FUND

Meeting Scheduled at Waldo for Payment to Peterson Contributors.

Contributions made to the reward fund for the arrest and conviction of the supposed kidnaper of Carolyn Peterson will be returned to the donors at the Waldo town hall and township house Thursday night, Rev. C. S. Long, committee chairman, said today.

Members of the committee will be at the hall from 6 to 9 p. m.

Rev. Long said the committee is asking all contributors who find it convenient to call in person for their refunds. Distribution of the fund will be by check and refunds will be in full.

Those who can not call at the hall tomorrow night will receive their refunds by mail.

In a statement today Rev. Long expressed appreciation of the committee for the wholehearted response from the public to the appeal for the fund, made at a time when all evidence seemed to indicate the child was kidnaped.

Although the campaign had been in progress only a few hours when finding of the child stopped solicitation, more than $3,000 was contributed with much more in sight. Contributions were made by 245 individuals and firms.

City hospital reported today the child continues to show improvement from the effects of 80 - hour exposure and lack of food and water.

She disappeared a week ago today from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson of route 98. Although as many as 100 men scoured the territory within a mile of the home she was not found until 7:15 p. m. Saturday, three and a half days and three nights after she disappeared.

FARBEN GROUP HEARS CHARGE

Prosecution Opens Trial of Reich Industrial Combine for Aggression.

(Picture on Page 10)

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, Germany, Aug. 27—A four man U. S. court, opening the war crimes trial of 24 directors of the billion dollar I. G. Farben chemical trust, heard the prosecution charge today they deliberately fostered Adolf Hitler's wars of aggression for their own profits.

And further than that, Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor told the court, they would breed a new war if they got another chance.

"These are the men who made war possible, and they did it because they wanted to conquer," said Taylor, the United States chief of counsel for war crimes.

"These men were governed by the same unquenchable thirst for power that for years has gripped and distorted the minds of the military caste and many other leading Germans. Their long range objective was x x x ultimately Farben's domination of the chemical industry of the world.

"What these men did was done with the utmost deliberation and would, I venture to surmise, be repeated if the opportunity should recur."

The defendants were the men who ran I. G. Farben—its official name is I. G. Farbenindustrie Aktiengesellschaft—which is the world's biggest chemical combine, and allegedly used it as a tool for Nazi conquest. Twenty-one of the 24 pleaded innocent on arraignment Aug. 14.

In Same Dock

For their trial, which may establish an important precedent by holding industrialists as well as political and military leaders responsible for plotting aggression, the Farben officials sat in the same dock where Hermann Goering and his Nazi colleagues were tried.

"We are not trying them for being Nazis," Gen. Taylor declared emphatically, "nor because they exercised great power and controlled great wealth.

"The indictment accuses these men of major responsibility for visiting upon mankind the most catastrophic war in human history," he asserted. "It accuses them of wholesale enslavement, plunder and murder."

Taylor charged as early as March, 1934, Farben started holding out technical information from Standard Oil of New Jersey and other non-German firms with which the chemical trust had agreements. He said the Farben-Standard Oil agreement delayed for years the development of synthetic rubber and fuels in the United States.

U. S. Hails Return Of Nearly Normal Mercury Readings

By The Associated Press

Near normal weather, with seasonable temperatures, prevailed over most of the country today.

The cool air which broke the midwest's protracted heat wave Monday, pushed into the north Atlantic states yesterday, ending three days of hot weather.

Thundershowers preceded the mass of cool air into the eastern states. An electrical rain and hail storm struck New York City and a score of persons were injured. Basements were flooded, telephone service interrupted and subway service was disrupted. The fall measured 3.44 inches and temperatures dropped from a record 91 for the date to 67 in less than two hours.

About 20 persons were injured in a rush by passengers to flee two street cars which were struck by lightning. A dozen bolts struck the Empire State building, but there was no damage.

Federal forecasters in Chicago said there was no indication of an immediate return of excessive heat to the midwest or eastern states. They said, however, readings in the 90's were expected [illegible] the [illegible] from the [illegible] to the Gulf states and [illegible]

VEGETABLE GROWERS TALK OVER WEATHER

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27—Delegates to the Vegetable Growers association convention split into separate groups today to discuss individual farm problems after a comprehensive talkfest on their best friend or worst enemy—the weather.

And Director Art Paetzke of Milwaukee said he thought something could be done about it.

"Granted that weather is heaven sent," he said, "and nothing much can be done to change what comes, the fact remains that there is something offered today which could fortify us against it.

"That is the long-range forecasts by private agencies predicting weather in any given area for a period of as much as three months.

"Growers armed with such information can protect themselves in their planting so as to bring harvests on, literally, between showers, or to delay putting out crops until after frost danger is past."

Such weather service, he said, should be incorporated as a regular fixture in the organization's news letter.

NEWARKITE TO FIGHT CHARGE OF BIGAMY

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., Aug. 27—Rev. Fountain Earl Andrews, 39-year old minister, free on $1,000 bond after arrest on bigamy charges filed in Kansas, indicated today he would resist extradition.

Kansas authorities and Andrews are under order to appear in Common Pleas Judge Charles B. Holtsberry's court Tuesday when the extradition proceedings are scheduled to begin.

Andrews, who has claimed ordination in the Methodist ministry, is defendant in charges filed by his first wife, Mildred, of Newark, mother of his four children.

The charges allege Andrews married Joan C. Colvin, 26, in Kansas City in February. Five swindling indictments were returned by the Meigs county grand jury against Miss Colvin, now under observation at Lima State hospital.

Dr. J. T. Alton, Methodist church superintendent for the Columbus district, said the denomination had no record of Andrew's ordination to its ministry "anywhere in the United States.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on box. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly blemishes disappears—how much better you feel! More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Housing Shortage Could Save Town from Looming Extinction

By MAURICE E. MORAN
Associated Press Writer

LANGELOTH, Pa., Aug. 27—The housing shortage which has made life miserable for thousands is regarded by residents of this tiny community nestling hard by a chemical plant as the means of saving their village from extinction.

These feelings are not prompted by selfishness toward their fellow man nor by a desire for profit from another's want.

The hope springs from a desire to save a closely-knit community from the threat of a blow which might turn the village into a "ghost town."

That blow is the impending abandonment of the town's principal source of income and the center of much of the daily life of the men folk among Langeloth's 2,000 souls.

The American Zinc and Chemical Company has announced it will close its Langeloth plant employing 875 workers as soon as present supplies of raw materials are exhausted. That may be any time from next October to the first of the year.

Closing of the plant means the end of a $190,000 monthly payroll and complete uncertainty of the future for the workers, many of whom have spent years in the plant making zinc and sulphuric acid for steel company buyers.

There is an air of bewilderment about the village, which is surprisingly pretty considering its proximity to the industrially-soiled plant acreage. Few of the workers have plans for their future after the plant closes. The company owns 275 homes in the village and the tenants are as uncertain as the company owners about their final disposition.

Seeking to cushion the shock of the plant closing, the firm is giving workers, most of them members of the CIO-Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union, severance pay. The firm also is seeking a way to dispose of the homes which will be satisfactory to the tenants.

William Bable, 58, a plant worker 31 years, "doesn't know" what he's going to do about future employment but he said:

"I'm going to stay right here in Langeloth. I own my own home and nobody can take that away from me."

Then he stopped long enough in his chicken-feeding chore to indulge in this bit of backyard philosophy, shared by many residents:

"The housing shortage may keep the community from breaking up. It isn't like it used to be when people could uproot themselves to find new jobs. You can't find homes these days so I think our people will stay here, even if they have to drive to Weirton, (W. Va.), Steubenville (O.) or Pittsburgh to get work in the steel mills. Yes sir, that housing shortage may keep our village together."

His son, Kenneth, 35, who has worked in the plant 14 years, hopes to stay in Langeloth and "get into something for myself around here someplace."

Ray H. Meisenhelder, plant superintendent, said the closing had been foreordained for years, that World War II gave the plant a new lease on life beyond its time. He said the closing was prompted by obsolescence of equipment, rising costs and the prohibitive expense of repair.

Like the workers, he lives in Langeloth and like them he's not certain of his future.

"I'm sure the town won't become a ghost town—people will have to stay here for lack of housing elsewhere. The loss of this big payroll will be a shock for a time but I think our people are sturdy enough to absorb it."

Few feel bitterly toward the company. The majority accept it as a "tough break" for all concerned. There is a small group, however, which feels that the closing of the plant opened in 1914 is aimed at "breaking the back of the union."

Man Drops Dead During Fist Fight in Church

By The Associated Press

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug 26—After a sermon at the Fourth avenue Baptist church, a member of the congregation arose, accused the pastor of conspiracy, started a free-for-all fight, and then dropped dead.

Knox County Coroner O. K. Williams attributed the death of the church member, Sherrod J. Lee, 56, to a heart attack and said he did not believe it resulted from the fight.

Rev. Henry Warner, 38-year-old pastor, said the fight started Sunday night when Lee accused him and another church leader of seeking to sell the church and keep the money.

Reverend Warner said last night he had resigned and would preach in another community. He also said "those who marched on us threatened my life if I came back."

Oilmen estimate that Diesel engines in the United States will burn at least 71 million barrels of fuel oil in 1947.

Had Measles?

Every mother knows that measles is one of the most highly contagious of all the diseases of childhood and now that schools are opening, they are concerned about their children catching this disease. One case in a school or a neighborhood means an outbreak, and if one child in a family comes down with it, the others are sure to follow unless they have already had it.

This is because measles is one of the relatively few diseases to which everyone—with the exception of babies under six months—is susceptible. Strangely enough, most young babies seem to have a natural protection against it, so that cases under six months are uncommon and under four months very rare indeed.

However, this universal susceptibility is balanced by the fact that one attack, as a rule, confers lifelong immunity. Thus, measles though so common, almost never occurs twice in the same person.

Up to the present, unfortunately medical science has found no way of protecting a child against measles as can be done against diphtheria. Such protection as we can give lasts only for two or three weeks, and hence, it is usually given only after a child is known to have been exposed to the disease.

Three substances are used for producing temporary protection against measles. Convalescent serum, secured from a person who is recovering from measles; immune globulin prepared from the placenta or afterbirth and a substance taken from the blood which is known as gamma globulin.

To prevent an attack, these substances must be given by injection into a muscle within three days after the child has been exposed to the measles. If given five or six days after exposure to measles, they will make the attack milder. For a complete preventive measure, some times two doses are used. The first is given as soon after exposure as possible, and the second five or six days later.

The treatment which Dr. Archibald L. Hoyne, of Chicago, employs in measles in our Chicago Contagious Disease Hospital, is as follows: The patient is put to bed in a well-ventilated room. The drug known as amidopyrine is administered three or four times daily for a period of three to four days. Dr. Hoyne has never seen any harmful effects from the use of this preparation in the proper way. He has found that this drug reduces fever, lessens the cough and may even be helpful in diminishing the possibilities of complications.

He has also found that the convalescent measles serum is of doubtful value after the patient has contracted the disease, and also that the use of gamma globulin does not seem to be justified.

If a patient with measles develops pneumonia, he should be placed in an oxygen tent and given one of the sulfonamide drugs or penicillin.

An unfortunate complication of measles which may develop is encephalitis or inflammation of the brain. When this occurs, it generally develops on the fourth or fifth day after the skin rash appears.

In treating encephalitis, the patient is usually placed in an oxygen tent and given an injection of glucose into a vein. Measles convalescent serum has also been employed, and injections of whole blood into a vein are beneficial in some cases.

2 VACANCIES ON FACULTY AT MEEKER

Classes Scheduled To Open Next Tuesday.

Two vacancies remain to be filled in the Meeker school faculty before the opening of school Tuesday, Supt. C. D. Pilkington announced today. The instructors already assigned are Miss Hazel Layman, first and second grades; Mrs. Ruby Gompf, third and fourth; Miss Mary E. Smith, fifth and sixth. The high school staff is composed of Mrs. Lloyd Calhoun, English and history; Irving Silvers, industrial arts and physical education; Burdette Hunter, vocational agriculture, and C. D. Pilkington, mathematics and science.

The school will open Tuesday. The buses are due to arrive at the school at 9:45 and an assembly will be held at 10. After the assembly books will be issued. In the afternoon 20 minute class periods will be held and school will be dismissed at 3:40.

A class for veterans in vocation agriculture has been planned for the Meeker school starting this year.

Farm Bureau Meeting At Mt. Gilead Tuesday

The Morrow County Farm Bureau membership and educational committee, including legislative committee members, Farm Bureau board, Farm Bureau Co-op board, advisory council, discussion leaders, youth representatives and members of the Women's Home and Community Cabinet, will meet at the courthouse annex, at Mt. Gilead Tuesday at 8:45 p. m. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss and evaluate the past years Farm Bureau activities and to discuss and make plans for the future.

A feature of the meeting will be a report by F. O. Van Sickle on a state Farm Bureau legislative meeting to be held in Columbus all day Tuesday.

Harley Lepp of Mt. Gilead and Chester Snyder of Edison, Farm Bureau insurance agents of Morrow county, have returned from a three-day insurance convention at Cedar Point.

1,706 EXAMINED BY X-RAY AT FAIR

Reports To Be Mailed in Few Weeks.

A total of 1,706 X-rays were taken by the X-ray mobile unit which was set up for four days at the Marion county fair, having been brought here under the auspices of the Marion county health board and the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health association from the state department of health. The unit took only chest X-rays.

Reports of the X-rays will be received within the next few weeks at the county health office and will then be mailed out to the persons examined. The health board is greatly pleased that such a large number of persons took advantage of the unit while there.

Plans are underway by the board to return the unit to Marion within the next few months for public and industrial service.

The typing of cards while the unit was at the fair was done in the afternoon by girls from the Marion Business college, and in the evening by members of the Marion Business and Professional Women's club.

Charge Filed Against Builder at Mansfield

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Aug. 27—Richland County Prosecutor Theodore Lutz yesterday filed a charge of obtaining money under false pretense against Nelson Byron, a roofing contractor.

Lutz charged the former Adario man with misrepresenting the facts which induced Robert Dickerson, a building supplies dealer, to supply Byron with materials for roofing a house.

The prosecutor said Byron claimed to have completed a previous job at Mansfield when he actually hadn't done the work.

School To Open At Wyandot Sept. 2

The Antrim township school at Wyandot will open Tuesday, Sept. 2, with the first session until noon only, according to an announcement made today by Milo Gould, superintendent. The school buses will pick up the pupils on the same schedule as last year. It was also announced that no lunches will be served at the school for at least the first week, pending a new schedule from the state.

D-Day in Palestine

UNLESS Palestine's gates are opened by October to 250,000 Jews now in German DP camps, Jewish immigrants will invade the Holy Land by parachute, according to the political action committee for Palestine.

Meanwhile, the Arab higher committee says Yemen, Arabia, Iraq, Egypt, Lebanon and Syria will flood the Holy Land with Arab immigrants in the ration of 10 for each Jew. The committee says 20,000 Arabs are in the Holy Land's border states now awaiting the signal to enter "by stealth."

The situation in Palestine has been called "explosive" in the past. Unless the UN works out a plan for a peaceful settlement, difficult as that may be to visualize, "explosive" will be too a mild a word.

Tomatoes Are Ripe

CROP reports from the plains states aren't very favorable but the east is coming thru with a bumper tomato crop. From New Jersey south through Delaware and the Eastern shore of Maryland and Virginia, the canneries work the clock around as the trucks bring in their loads of rich red fruit of the vine. To augment the staffs of some 100 canneries, farmers come out of the fields and housewives put aside their normal chores.

In a year when America's bounty means so much, the record tomato harvest is good news. It means there will be no shortage of one item which will add nutritious variety to the world's menu in a year when the outlook is none too good.

No Problem Here

INDIGNATION against the style decree for longer skirts is manifesting itself in some of those "spontaneous demonstrations" the Communists are always talking about. Dallas has had a parade, complete with Marine color guard, and further tangible evidence comes from Cleveland and other cities where chapters of the Little Below the Knee clubs are being formed.

There need be no organized effort to put over this revolt against a few big-shot hemstitchers in New York and Paris ateliers. Let each woman wear her skirt at a height which best reveals her good features or conceals her poor ones.

It's as simple as that, as any man with an eye for a well-turned ankle will attest.

Shipping Water

THE great liner America, immobilized at its pier, stands as a symbol of the American merchant marine and its woes. With last week's sailing canceled because a wildcat longshoremen's strike, the America's operators refunded $280,000 in fares and are contemplating the complications of a changed schedule for some 10,000 who have future bookings.

International shipping competition is reviving. The big French and British liners are operating and the Swedish and Norwegian flag is common on the seas again. By June the tonnage clearing and entering American ports in American ships had declined to 54 per cent.

American shipping has been heavily subsidized for years so that American living and working standards could be maintained on shipboard. There is a limit to those subsidies. In the day of growing competition, American seamen and longshoremen are speeding a further decline in American shipping by wildcat strikes which jeopardize their own future.

Talking Turkey in China

BEFORE leaving China for Tokyo, Gen. Wedemeyer made it clear he considers China's Nationalist government a poor investment. Speaking plainly for a man on a diplomatic mission, he said corrupt officials and inefficiency had so infested the Chinese with the virus of apathy that a complete house cleaning would be necessary to restore hope and confidence.

Wedemeyer calls on Chinese Communists to cease the use of force to attain their ends but it isn't likely he expects that plea to be heeded. He indicated that the Chiang Kai-Shek government would have to produce more than promises from now on to qualify for further American aid. Conceding that China had honorable, competent officials, he added, "But no one will misunderstand my emphasis on the large number whose conduct is notoriously marked by greed, incompetence or both."

The Chinese have indulged in nepotism, "squeeze" and large-scale inefficiency so long they have became part of the fabric of national life. Whether they can change overnight is open to question. But the gist of the American envoy's remarks indicates they will have to do just that to receive the wherewithal.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

British Loan Seekers Met with Cool Reserve.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—A certain cool reserve toward the British must have been more apparent to their aid-dickerers here than to the American public. Frankly, no one from Mr. Truman on down was enthusiastic about the Anglo-Socialist government campaign to convince herself and the world that we are responsible for her troubles. The British are the only people alive who can take your money and blame you for making them take it. This requires a unique technique. Psychiatrists probably would trace it to an inferiority complex. At any rate, the British (whether Attlee or Churchill) always prepare asking for more loans or greater concessions from us by a general campaign of accusations against us. Thus the British press aspersions have practically monopolized world publicity while Washington was silent. Thus the great-thinking London economist has been telling the world the cause of the British economic crisis lies "far more with the United States than with Britain herself." The weekly has argued that the loan was too small originally, that the preferences granted American goods and dollars were "unworkable," and that high prices in America caused the British plight.

No Objection

Washington did not mind withdrawing the preferences for American goods and dollars which the British promised to get the money in the loan agreement. It was handled here as a matter of routine. But no one liked the British gulf which went with it. Indeed, Washington quietly watched without comment the mounting current British propaganda drive, starting with reports of Attlee's resignation, and our officialdom refused to believe any of it. Ousting of Attlee for "ill health" is only one step considered by the British ("its said commonly on the inside here) merely to create a better British propaganda around the world. The substitution of Bevin would not alter the unsuccessful Socialist policies, or would the elevation of Hugh Dalton to the foreign ministry make the slightest change in foreign policy.

The latest good reporter to survey the British plight is Eugene Meyer, publisher of the Washington Post, who knows enough about finance to have been federal reserve chairman and more recently president of the World Bank. Meyer reported to his paper recently the British public has not been told "the facts of life" regarding their plight, and also that Socialism simply has failed to bring the needed production through which Britain could recover. Everyone knows this outside Britain. It has been evident almost officially since a British embassy official here conceded last February Britain had coal in the ground of workable thickness for a production at economic prices of 250 million tons a year for 200 years at least, but was not able last winter to mine enough of it to keep herself warm. (He blamed shortage of miners of course, not Socialism.)

Political Crisis

The truth behind all this is Britain's political crisis is worse than her economic crisis. Her Socialist politicians are trying to save their own skins with the British people by blaming us, rather than themselves for her condition. With an unbelievable propaganda campaign, they even succeeded in saving themselves from blame for their food shortage by convincing the British we were not giving them enough food. They did not let the public know their own Socialist experiments with land seizures had threatened private farmers and discouraged production. Now they are compromising slightly on their Socialist planning (delaying further steps for a while, they say) and are trying to dig themselves out by focusing accusations against their leading and only benefactor, the United States.

Washington will continue to watch this in hurt and unamused silence, believing absolutely nothing it hears from London while this drive is on, doing as much as possible to aid its accusers economically, while reserving a private prayer perhaps that the British public awakens. How long this will take can not be guessed as samples of British press reports lately indicate undeviatingly the Socialists are turning their press off and on like a faucet of the government.

This Should Have Been A Double-cuff Ceremony

A Chicago couple has been sentenced to prison for a series of burglaries, including one on their marriage night.

Weren't they satisfied with their wedding presents?

For their offenses just previous to the ceremony, of course, they have a ready-made alibi . . . that they were only seeking something borrowed for the bride to wear.

One can just see the reports in the society sections: "The groom is a prominent, young, second-story man and the bride a talented accessory before the fact . . ."

Incidentally, there's one pair of newlyweds who aren't bothered with the housing shortage. Who knows, a cooperative warden may even let him carry her across the threshhold into her cell.

Yes sir, a lot of people go to Niagara Falls but only a few have the opportunity to honeymoon up the river.

Justice Must Be Done

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

WHEN Edward Kennedy, Associated Press correspondent, was pilloried for making known to the world that the fighting war was at an end, the newspaper world failed to back him up as they should have done. On May 10, 1945, I wrote in this column:

"The function of an American reporter is to get the news and to report it. That Edward Kennedy did. The news he sent was legitimate and truthful. The news the AP received and issued to the American Press of this country was legitimate and truthful. The only illegitimate and untruthful act was performed by whoever ordered the truth suppressed. This is one time when the battle against silly, stupid, official-bound idiocy ought to be fought to a finish."

That was not done. Instead the faces of Army censors were saved and the impression was given that Kennedy had committed a crime. In fact, newspaper men attached to SHAEF attacked Kennedy for scooping them instead of supporting him for his courage, veracity and honest reporting.

On May 15, 1945, I wrote concerning this:

"There can be only one excuse for suppression of news and that is the national security from a strictly military standpoint. All other forms of suppression are antagonistic to the American spirit and the Bill of Rights. The suppression of the truth, the whole truth, is the perpetuation of lies... and no civilian or military official is paid a salary to engage in such suppression."

"Kennedy Learned"

Now, "Editor and Publisher," the organ of the newspaper profession, under the title "Kennedy Cleared," states:

"It has taken two years for all the facts to come out about the German surrender story which Ed Kennedy flashed to the world from Paris. At that time he was censured by the Army, his fellow-correspondents, and many editors here for breaking a confidence and interrupting the plans for a joint Allied announcement.

"Now we know that the 'joint Allied announcement' was just an excuse cooked up on the spot. Actually, SHAEF had authorized the German radio station at Flensburg to break the story while the 16 newsmen who saw the surrender ceremony were bottled up by censorship in Paris. The BBC re-broadcast the report. It was on its way around the world. Kennedy heard it and he told the chief censor that inasmuch as the news had been released he no longer felt bound by the pledge. It was stupid for the military to hold up the news since SHAEF had already released it.

"Had we been in Kennedy's position we are inclined to believe we would have attempted to do just as he did. Kennedy's name has been cleared and we believe that his story will go down in the books as one of the greatest journalistic beats in history."

To this, I say, amen! But I feel that it is insufficient. The Army censorship and the Army public information services owe Kennedy an apology. Somebody should be punished for trying to perpetrate a lie.

"Who's At Fault?"

The Army complains that enlistments are down. Even the enrollment at West Point is down—a rare occurrence, indeed. Yet, there has never been a time when the Army should be more popular, should have greater support, should be more the pride of the country.

It is a funny thing, but something happens to a man when he goes to Washington. Take a first-class advertising man who can merchandise shiny teeth, breakfast foods, anti-B. O. or anything. Give him a desk in Washington and he goes mandarin. He seems to lose balance, initiative and courage. He becomes a bureaucrat. The same thing happened to Army public relations. It went dead.

The best example was the Manhattan project. That amazing job was the achievement of the Army under General Leslie Groves. But the Army let the credit go to a handful of scientists who never could and never did put the bomb together. Had the Army had any public relations sense this country would today recognize its achievements.

The Kennedy incident, the Manhattan project, the smearing of General Groves, the dirty deal meted out to General George Patton are only a few examples of stupid public relations. Who is at fault?

ON A SLIPPERY SPOT

From News of Other Years

Ten Years Ago

It was Friday, Aug. 27, 1947.

Mrs. Marjorie Lewis Kallas, 25, of Bucyrus was killed in an automobile accident.

Thomas Jefferson Osborne, 81, former Marion meat shop proprietor died in Cleveland.

Death of Andrew Mellon at the age of 83 recalled his visits here during the Harding campaign and at the time of the president's funeral. Mr. Mellon served President Harding as secretary of the treasury.

Secretary of State Hull declared he had served notice on Japan and China that American rights must be respected in the oriental conflict.

Coughing of a month-old child served to rouse the Barney Weisner family at Cardington in the early morning and save them from possible death as fire destroyed their home. The baby nearly suffocated from smoke.

William Lemke, 33, of 512 Forest street and James Barnhart, 26 of 207 Bain avenue, were killed when their car collided with a truck as they returned from the Grand American trap shoot at Vandalia, O.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, Aug. 27, 1927.

Funeral services were arranged for Monday for Josiah Bindley, prominent Marion businessman and civic leader, whose death occurred at his home on East Center street Friday night. He was 57 years of age.

Miss Ladema Chamberlain of Mark street and Ralph H. Weiss of south of Marion were united in marriage by Dr. J. D. Darling, pastor of Wesley M. E. church, at his home on Orchard street.

Melvin Ooley, 20, of North Main street was killed in an automobile accident a mile west of Marion on the Green Camp pike.

Mrs. Richard E. Edmondson and son Richard of New York City arrived for a visit with Mrs. Edmondson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Schroeter of East Center street.

Mrs. F. E. Mahla and sons Louis and Richard of East Church street returned from a visit in Bay View, Mich.

America Must Lead

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27—Now that the British dollar crisis has temporarily subsided, one big question remains to be answered. The few weeks in which pounds could be converted into dollars were almost incalculably costly. The run on the British treasury cost our taxpayers betwen 800 million and one billion American dollars, siphoned off from our loan to pay for mink coats for Argentine millionairesses and limousines for Egyptian pashas. The cost to the British people will be an appalling cut in their standard of life. The cost to Britain and America together will be a severe weakening of the Anglo-American political partnership, which our loan to Britain was intended to strengthen.

All this was utterly unnecessary. All that was needed was to suspend the convertibility clause in the Anglo-American loan agreement, before the clause took effect on July 15. Why on earth was this not done? The answer is curious in itself, and points a vital moral.

The dangers of the convertibility clause in the loan agreement were of course foreseen, on both sides of the Atlantic, long prior to July 15.

Dalton's View Different

They were not fully realized, to be sure, by the stuffy, doctrinaire chancellor of the British exchequer, Hugh Dalton. Dalton was complacently convinced that the pound, the traditional medium of internal exchange, could hold its own with the upstart dollar. He so advised the British cabinet. The cabinet, occupied with other things, took him at his word. But among the younger and more realistic experts in both the British treasury and the foreign office, there were many who saw the storm signals on the horizon. The same pattern held in Washington.

As long ago as last January, the British actually felt out our treasury's attitude on the convertibility clause. But they did not lay the facts squarely on the table, and ask for the help they really needed. Instead, they tried an indirect approach. They were having some trouble making arrangements for sterling-dollar convertibility with the Chinese and certain other countries. They asked for an interpretation of the loan agreement which would remove this highly technical difficulty.

The first reaction of Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder is to say "no" to any proposal. He fairly snapped at the British representatives who made the overture. The British were crestfallen. Snyder had spoken. Therefore, they wearily and incorrectly supposed, the American government had spoken. In reaching this conclusion, however, they omitted two major facts.

Each Side Wanted

First, their approach was indirect. Thus the real problem which was the danger of convertibility as a whole, was not discussed at all. Second, there were plenty of leading American officials who already saw this danger. Among these were Under Secretary of State Dean Acheson, his successor, Robert A. Lovett; Under Secretary of State Will Clayton, and Secretary of Commerce Averell Harriman. These men together could have won the day for suspension of convertibility. The only trouble was that they were waiting for the British to take the initiative. As in some silly Victorian novel, each side waited for the other to speak first.

Even at the eleventh hour, when Secretary Clayton went to London this spring, this mutual skittishness persisted. Before Clayton's trip, it was known that he would be prepared to negotiate, if the British strongly urged revision of the loan agreement.

Instead the British merely spread before Clayton a set of figures. These figures made it entirely clear that the drain on the British dollar position after convertibility would prove intolerable. Clayton, waiting for the British to make a positive request for aid, said nothing. And the British, hamstrung by Dalton's nostalgic complacency on the one hand, and by their fear of another American rebuff on the other, took Clayton's silence for a rebuff.

Don't Face The Facts

Thus, idiotically, the disaster was allowed to happen. As after every disaster, all the participants are busily looking for the goat. Some of the less intelligent British are talking about Uncle Shylock again. Among American officials there is also a tendency to curse the British for their lack of foresight, their refusal to face the facts of their siutation. This is the old error Secretary of State George C. Marshall used to warn against as chief of staff, and still warns against at the state department. It is the error of "fighting the problem."

"Fighting the problem" means, very simply, complaining against the conditions of the problem to be solved, instead of going to work to solve it. It is "fighting the problem" to complain that the British failed to see the seriousness of their own situation, and did not take the initiative in asking us to help. Any reasonably competent psychologist, realizing the desperate character of the British plight, would have expected some timidity and fumbling. American officials could also see the dangers ahead. It was up to them to encourage the British to act, by encouraging them to come to Washington for help. It was up to the more self-confident Americans, in short, to take the lead.

For us in the United States, this is the real moral of the British crisis. Far more in other capitals than in London, insecurity and economic deterioration have produced a sort of worldwide paralysis of political will. Strength is in Washington. This country is the only leader. And the leader must lead.

CROSSTOWN By Roland Coe

"I hope my wife doesn't come along—she's been after me for a month to wash our car."

Pitching Horseshoe

By BILLY ROSE

RIGHT after Eleanor and I were marrie bought a little house. Up until that I had never bought furniture except for night clubs—tables $6, chairs $18 a dozen.

My wife steered me into a Madison Av store which was so classy it didn't even the name on the window. I said I wanted to at some chairs. The clerk brought out a ma chair. It looked like a prop out of "The Sw Prince." the gilt was peeling off, and a respecting termite would sneer at it. "S hundred dollars," the clerk announced.

"It isn't even new," I cracked.

"It's a genuine Louis the Fourteenth," purred.

"It's too small," I purred back. "Show m Louis the Sixteenth."

As we left, Eleanor said, "You may k about highballs, Genius, but not about right We don't go shopping again until you get he Hepplewhite."

So I did what I always do when I'm conf —I went to the library. I started reading u antiques, the furniture that is worth more it is worth. I began to get interested wh discovered there was a lot of larceny mixe in it. I learned that much of what is sold as is merely in its second childhood. I read a the furniture faker who turns a Grand Ra desk into old Gyppendale; about the $10 that's worth a thousand because an idiot slept in it; that Duveen had once asked a lion dollars for seven pieces that belonge Madame Pompadour; that a silver dish is w more if George the Third slobbered in it.

I DECIDED to forget about antiques. I saw point in blowing in a lot of dough for so thing nobody would want if everybody ha On the other hand, I knew Eleanor would be happy with In-Between stuff—furniture old for poor folks and not quite old enough rich folks.

So I decided to have a look at modern fu ture. Again I was in trouble. Every room showed me looked like a bathroom. There one modern living room done in stainless s glass tubing and burlap. It had everything a speaker over the door announcing, "Dr. dare wanted in surgery." The lighting was posed to be indirect but to me it loo undecided. I couldn't go for the bedroom had on display. I don't like disappearing be I'm never sure they'll come back. When I down in one of the foam-rubber chairs I like saying, "Have the hostess bring me a c board container. The air's awfully bu today."

Well, we still had an empty house. Elea and I thought we'd better take another loo the antiques. We traipsed around for we before we bought anything. After poking aro a dozen shops, my eyes finally got into fo I realized a lot of the old stuff was pretty, some furniture, like Bing Crosby, improv with age.

We started buying, a piece here, a pi there. It gave us something to talk about dinner parties, a chance to show off for peo who knew almost as little as we did. W started out as affectation has gnown into aff tion. Today we're genuinely fond of the junk.

Buying antiques is something like play Three-Card Monte with a dealer who we striped pants. He makes his living by get you to look where he wants you to look.

The Sensible Girls

By TRUMAN TWILL

This will cover all bets at 100 to 1 that n ing comes of the rebellion against the length ing of skirts for females. We have been study the female mind on propositions of this kind years and have found it to be thorou unreliable.

Women as a group are pushovers for d things differently, if other women have don differently first. Whether it's potted plants a window seat, hooked rugs, bustles, leg-o'-m ton sleeves, wasp waists, patches on the ch artificial eyelashes, fingernail polish, or a kind of salad made of tired melon rinds, the thing is to keep up with the procession, kills them and breaks up the happy home.

The sensible girls are muttering through bobby pins it's a lot of unprintable foolish to go to extremes in lengthening their ski but they'll have no more effect on the final come than sensible girls ever have on anyth No one really cares what the sensible girls going to do, but they'd give their eye teeth know what that hussy down the block is go to do because if she does it they'll have to it too, blast her.

Fashion designers can let the air out of revolt about lengthening skirts by picking a few converts of the right kind in the r places. The sensible girls who like things way they are will be left with things just way they are—darn it! It won't take them to see the light—just as long as it takes eyes to come to a bright, sparkling focus on so other woman in a new-style outfit.

Sensible girls fought the switchover to stockings. They were stuck with flannel pe coats after hussies had ceased to have shame. They wore their hair long when and flappers took up bobs. They saw the li on that, and now that the more daring memb of the sex are wearing their hair down to the sensible girls are wearing theirs up to he

The sensible girls fought slacks until lost that battle, but depend on it that if non-sensible girls ever give up slacks the sible girls will wear out their last pair b takes until the year 2000. They made their ton shoes and muffs last for decades. always have been dependable, bless their hea —the sensible girls. But in the long run after it had ceased to matter one way or other—they came around.

On second thought, this will cover all bet up to five cents—that the sensible girls wo last until Christmas in their lost-cause rebel to keep skirt lengths where they are now, cause long before Christmas most of them have tried to explain to some stupid male w their skirt is shorter than the skirt on woman over there "...you see, honey, it's revolt...it's going to prove...aww...wha the use?"

Keep To the Left

The reason the Chicago & North Western Ra road operates on the left-handed principle explained by Clyde D. Foster in a communic tion to the Chicago Tribune. The fact that Brit influence and engineers helped construct road is the reason commonly given but it is correct, according to Mr. Foster, who writes:

"The North Western was built with mo raised by businessmen and farmers in Chicago area.

"The North Western was originally a sin line with stations on the right hand side of track. Seven years after the first line was bu a double track was found to be a necessity. T only place to put it was alongside the tra already in place opposite the station buildin otherwise the buildings had to be moved ba

"When the track was laid down it was discov ered that if it operated on the right-hand pri ciple, people waiting for trains going into city would have to cross one track to boa trains waiting on the other track. For obvio reasons, the stations were only used by peop waiting for trains going into Chicago."

UN OFFICIAL TAKES STAND AGAINST VETO

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 27 — Faris El Khoury, security council [illegible], took a firm stand today [illegible] the big power veto [illegible] questions of enforcing [illegible] peace.

[illegible] acknowledged he was [illegible] a losing battle at this [illegible].

El Khoury, a Syrian, stated his [illegible] as the council was called [illegible] at 3 p. m. for another [illegible] the veto, which has been [illegible] 20 times in United Nations history—18 times by Russia [illegible] by France.

There was no prospect of any change in the set-up.

El Khoury, who has said that the veto has frustrated the will of the majority, declared in a discussion off the council floor the veto should be applied only to calling out troops for UN action to preserve peace and similar strong measures under the UN charter.

He said that the veto should not apply on other matters, particularly on admitting new members.

FIRMS SEEN LACKING FAITH IN CAPITALISM

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27—Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said today some steel industry leaders are showing the same belief in the eventual breakdown of capitalism as Premier Stalin of Russia.

Instead of boosting prices, the senator told reporters, this country's business leaders should be expanding production and tapping an "American market that has not yet been scratched."

O'Mahoney is a member of the joint congressional committee on the economic report which already has conducted hearings into the state of this country's business health and which plans a nationwide inquiry this fall into rising prices.

Taking note of reports Russian leaders are counting upon a depression to give Communism a stronger foothold in the United States and other capitalistic countries, the Wyoming senator declared:

"Steel executives who are unwilling to expand steel capacity to meet perfectly obvious demands seem to entertain the same doubts about the capability of the capitalists system that are expressed by Mr. Stalin."

O'Mahoney said the "consuming power in America is beyond the imagination of those business executives who are retarding production by holding up prices.

But, he added, these two facts should influence business leaders "to take chances on the growth of America":

▶ A report by the New York Stock Exchange magazine net profits for the first half of this year for 402 companies are 97.9 per cent larger than the first six months of 1946.

▶ A commerce department study showing per capita income in 1946 "reached an unprecedented peak of $1,200."

O'Mahoney concluded that "if businessmen have faith in America and in their own capacity to produce and would invest some of their huge profits in expanding capacity to meet the market, we need have no further worries about inflation."

Five sister ships of the Great Lakes fleet are each about an eighth of a mile long — the largest fresh water vessels afloat.

State Fair Is School of Life

Exhibition Rates as Show for Everyone and Grows More So Each Year.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 27—To learn about life you go to a state fair now.

Ohio's 93rd fair in 101 years, in its fifth day today at its 50-year-old stand, is a far cry from the agricultural exposition at which farmers of 1846 showed each other what they had done with the tools and soils of that day.

Today it's a show for everybody and becoming more so every year. The farmer can look around and decide whether he wants to install one of the fashionable cater-corner bathtubs in that new house he's planning for the young just-married folks.

The city man can look around and make up his mind whether the 0-12-12 fertilizer would help his wife's flower bed and the garden he is supposed to be keeping in the back yard.

People Look Alike

To look at the crowd you can't say this man is a country man and that one lives downtown. They dress alike, they eat the same ice cream cones, and they both know which end of the tractor is front.

This year's fair, although it has drawn a record number of exhibits and displays, is falling behind last year's in attendance. Officials reported this was in keeping with developments in other state fairs, including the big ones in Indiana and Wisconsin.

A total of 51,084 persons paid their way into the fair yesterday, compared with the 60,156 of a year ago. There have been 159,555 paid admissions to the fair this year in four days, against 199,239 of last year.

200,000 Attend

Officials pointed out, including the guests of Monday when women and children were admitted free, attendance is approximately 200,000 this year.

Championships in the national Percheron show went to a three-year-old stallion owned by L. G. Hay of Loudonville, O., and a mare owned and exhibited by Ohio State university. Prizes totaling $10,000, highest draft horse premiums ever offered, will go to ribbon winners at the show.

Broadview Silhouette from Broadview Farms of Gahanna, O., repeated in taking top honors for the amateur fine harness last night.

Genius of Stoneyridge, owned by Mrs. J. E. McAdams of Steubenville, and My Golden Hour, owned by Mrs. David Davies of Columbus, topped their classifications in stake events for gaited horses.

CAR MAKERS PLEDGE END TO PRICE HIKES

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Aug. 27—With $45 to more than $225 added to the price-tags of new passenger cars manufactured throughout the auto industry, producers indicated today the line would hold for the rest of the year.

But prospective buyers, eyeing the price boosts announced yesterday by the Ford Motor Co. and Studebaker Corp., to complete the round of increases, wondered if the many changes contemplated for 1948 models would send the cost of their new cars still higher.

Studebaker, last of the makers to mark up prices, announced from South Bend, Ind., last night that $50 to $115 would be added to its car and truck models.

The action followed by only a few hours a Ford announcement of increases ranging from $86 to $128 on Lincoln, Mercury and so-called "luxury" models. Sunday, the Ford concern, which earlier in the year had cut its prices, announced boosts of $62 to $90 on Ford standard models.

ANNOUNCEMENT is being made of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Betty Jeanne Carmean, daughter of Russell M. Carmean of Columbus and Mrs. Forrestt L. Carmean of Athens, O., to John William Loeffert. Mr. Loeffert is the son of Mr and Mrs. John W. Loeffert of 140 North Greenwood street.

Miss Carmean was graduated from Harding High school with the class of 1945 and is employed at the Marion Engineer Depot. Her fiance, a graduate of Harding High school, served 30 months with the U. S. Army, with part of that time overseas in the European theater. He is associated with the White-Haines Optical Co.

The couple have chosen Sunday, Sept. 21, as the date for their wedding which will take place at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon in Emanuel Lutheran church. The custom of open church will be observed.

MEMBERS of Iota Alpha chapter, Pi Omicron national sorority, held their annual August picnic last evening at Garfield park. A short business meeting followed the supper during which plans were made for the chapter to resume its regular program meetings in September. The opening meeting of the season will be held Sept. 9. The committee in charge of arrangements for the picnic was composed of Mrs. Virginia Sansotta, chairman, Mrs. Enid Pendleton, Miss Martha Monnett and Miss Patty Gerlach.

Mrs. Carroll Winters was hostess to Les Gai Huit club Thursday evening in her home on Spencer street. Awards in cards went to Mrs. Richard McClure, a guest, first, Mrs. Joel Welch, second, and Mrs. Millard Diehl, floating. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Herman Wygle.

Shower Honors Marion Girl To Marry Sept. 7

MISS VIRGINIA BULL, bride-elect of September, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower when her cousin, Miss Beulah Rae Bull of Mt. Vernon avenue, entertained Saturday evening.

Table decorations, in blue and yellow, were carried out in floral arrangements of yellow gladioli and blue delphinium and in the tall tapers at each end of the table.

Contest awards went to Mrs. O. A. Ralston, Mrs. Harold Walker, Mrs. Jack Swigart and Miss Isabelle Bauer.

Guests included Miss Bull, Mrs Ralston, Mrs Warren Bull, Mrs Thomas Cathers, Mrs 'Hal Beringer, Mrs Elizabeth Peterson, Mrs William Bull, Mrs Robert Ferguson, Mrs Laura Belle Jacobs, Mrs. A. P. Young, Mrs Howard Williams, Misses Jacqueline Williams, Arleen Hill, Betty Toms, Phyllis Ruhl, Dorothy Toms and Ruth Bull.

Miss Bull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Warren W Bull of 279 South High street, will become the bride of Harold W. Ralston, son of Mr and Mrs O A. Ralston of 284 North State street on Sept 7

Couple Exchange Marriage Vows in Church Here

MISS NELLIE ROWLAND, daughter of Mr. and Mrs C. L. Rowland of 207 Patten street, became the bride Sunday, Aug 17, of Robert Howard Whitfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E Whitfield of Altoona, Pa. The double ring ceremony was read at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the Central Christian church by the pastor, Rev. Eldred W. Johnston.

The altar, banked with palms, was decorated with two large baskets of white gladioli and lighted by tall white tapers in two seven branch candelabra.

The altar, banked with palms, was decorated with two large baskets of white gladioli and lighted by tall white tapers in two seven branch candelabra.

A program of nuptial music by Miss Ruth Blackburn of Gnadenhutten, O., organist, and Mrs Bebb Jones of Tiffin, vocalist, preceded the ceremony. Miss Blackburn's selections included Clare de Lune," Debussy, "Liebestraum," Liszt, "One Alone," Romberg, "Always," Berlin, "On Promise Me," DeKoven, and the traditional wedding marches During the ceremony she played "O Perfect Love," Burleigh. Mrs Jones sang "I Love You Truly," Bond, "Because," d'Hardelot, and her own words to "At Dawning." After the couple repeated their vows, Mrs. Jones sang "The Lord's Prayer," Malotte.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a street length dress of white rayon crepe with which she wore a white horsehair braid bonnet style hat and white accessories Her bouquet was of white carnations tied with narrow white satin ribbon, and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Ruth Imhof of Imler, Pa, and Miss Margaret Bock of Archbold, O., was bridesmaid Miss Imhof wore a street length dress of pink rayon with white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Bock was costumed in a blue rayon crepe dress with white accessories. Her bouquet was of maroon carnations

Bebb Jones of Tiffin served as best man, and ushers were Glenn Reitig of Holgate and Richard Lammers of St. Marys. The candles were lighted by Miss Jean Gerstenlauer of Lima and Miss Elaine Hamann of Amherst. All members of the bridal party are college friends of the bride and bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Rowland chose a gray dress of spun rayon with brown accessories. Mrs Whitfield was attired in a gray dress of rayon crepe with white accessories Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held in the church social rooms immediately following the ceremony The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake surrounded by ferns and sweet peas, and her colors of blue and white were carried out in the candles and napkins which completed the decorations Serving were Mrs Wilbert Milligan, Mrs Everett Milligan and Miss Louise Rowland, sisters of the bride. When the couple left on a wedding trip to central Michigan, Mrs. Whitfield was wearing a yellow linen dress with white accessories.

Mrs. Whitfield was graduated from Harding High school and Heidelberg college, and will teach English and Latin in the high school at Stryker, O., in the fall. Mr Whitfield, a graduate of Altoona High school, is attending Heidelberg college and will resume his studies there in January.

Hold Business Caucuses as Members Pour Into New York.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 27—American Legionnaires by the thousands moved on New York today while their leaders, busy as mess sergeants just before chow time, fought to shape up the various matters to be layed before the 29th convention opening tomorrow afternoon.

State delegations began to hold caucuses to decide which way to cast their votes for national commander, and standing committees continued work on resolutions to go before the convention, which continues through Sunday.

The 40 et 8 will hold its parade tomorrow night but the main Legion parade will be Saturday.

The Legion's service committee announced that 1,600 local members would serve as special officers.

Sees Training Opposition

The Legion's national defense committee was told by Rep. Harry L. Towe (R-NJ) that "considerable opposition" could be expected for his bill in congress to provide a six-month basic training period for all American youths.

Towe urged the Legion to join in a "pressure program" to push the measure, and strong Legion backing for universal military training was predicted Sunday by the Legion's national commander, Paul H. Griffith of Uniontown, Pa.

Walter E. Allessandroni, Philadelphia lawyer and former Marine Corps captain, told the Legion's housing committee its stand against the Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill was not representative of rank-and-file membership but "because these boys at the table are against it."

Arthur I. Marcus of Greendale, Wis., a committee member, replied the bill is inadequate, would establish "a huge bureaucracy," and would provide only 125,000 rental units "and that will take years and years."

With Marcus on the committee are Richard Vail, Fresno, Calif.; J. D. Sawyer, Middletown, O.; Richard C. Cadwallader, Baton Rouge, La., and Hayward S. Cleveland, Port Washington, N. Y.

Eight candidates for the post of national commander set up suites in the Hotel Pennsylvania. Preliminary surveys indicated James F. O'Neil, police chief of Manchester, N. H., and vice chairman of the Legion's Americanism committee, held a slight lead in early stages of electioneering.

Martin V. Coffey of Middletown, O., and S. Perry Brown of Beaumont, Tex., were close competitors, leading to the possibility of a three-way fight on the convention floor.

CRITICS PLEASED. Music critics of Los Angeles dailies were generally "pleased" with Margaret Truman's Hollywood bowl debut, but prescribed more instruction and training for the President's daughter to establish herself as an opera singer. The 23-year-old Margaret is pictured above when she sang one of her two encores as the crowd of 15,000 persons applauded for 10 curtain calls.

Prepare for School Opening at Crestline

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, Aug. 27—Wednesday and Thursday, workbooks will go on sale in the school library in preparation for the opening of school Tuesday, Sept. 2. In order to avoid confusion on the first day of school, all students are urged to secure the necessary workbooks this week. The library will be open from 9 to 11:30 a. m. and 1 to 3 p. m. on both days designated.

As in other years, classes will convene at 9 a. m. on Sept. 2, for a short morning session, the afternoon session will begin at 12:45. Buses will pick up students in time to arrive at the buildnig shortly before 9 o'clock. School will begin at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday as announced by Supt. A. A. Remy. His office is now open daily, through Friday from 9 a. m., to 12 noon and 1 to 4 p. m.

Although Japan was Asia's leading producer and user of iron and steel its iron ore reserves are considered completely adequate to meet even normal industrial needs.

AIR RACING OFFICIALS EXPECTING BUSY DAY

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27—Timing crews at the National Air Races expected a busy session today with about a dozen planes lined up for two-lap qualifying runs around the 15-mile Thompson course.

Only two planes qualified for the $40,000 race which will feature the Labor day program during the first two days assigned for the speed trials. However, pilots showed more eagerness to get their polished mounts into the air after officials reminded them there will be no exceptions to the 5 p. m. Friday deadline.

The second bail-out by a race pilot increased interest at box office, where officials had noted less crowding than a year ago.

Claude P. Smith of Reidsville, N. C., 23-year-old pilot-mechanic, deserted his midget racer, a red and white hand-built model entered in the $25,000 Goodyear classic, when the left wing failed during a trial flight late yesterday.

The day before James De Santo of Atlanta, Ga., had jumped safely from his big Curtiss P-60 when a failure occurred in the tail.

The rate of arrivals of racing pilots, mechanics and planes increased rapidly yesterday and should reach a peak by tonight.

The American oil industry furnished 80 per cent of all petroleum used by the Allies in World War II.

Steel Supply Expected To Be Low for Months

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 — Steel supplies are expected to fall short of consumer requirements for some months to come, The Iron Age, national metalworking paper, said today.

"The easing off in demand for some major steel products, expected by a few steel officials, has failed to materialize," the publication added.

Order backlogs are increasing at many steel firms, the papers said, because of the industry's inability to lift the ingot rate above 95 per cent of capacity. This week's output was rated at 95.5 per cent.

Hampering steelmaking operations, The Iron Age reported, are "the long term scrap shortage, lack of pig iron and the necessity for mechanical repairs on steel mill equipment."

WED AT BUCYRUS

BUCYRUS, Aug. 27—Miss Margaret Theresa Boyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Boyle, and Gilbert "Bill" Hubble, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Hubble, were married Saturday. The vows were exchanged in the rectory of Holy Trinity Catholic church, the Rev. Fr. Leo Reinartz officiating. Miss Mae Boyle, was her sister's only attendant. Darl Orewiler was the best man.

Members of the former bomber crew of Mr. Hubble witnessed the ceremony along with close friends and members of the two families. A registered nurse, the new Mrs. Hubble has been employed at Bucyrus City hospital. She is a graduate of Providence hospital school of nursing at Sandusky. Mr. Hubble is a student at Ohio State university and the couple will occupy a newly purchased home in Columbus this fall.

QUAKER OATS SPLITS PROFITS

Marion Employes Participate in Company's Program To Share Earnings.

Smiles were the style today among 74 employes at the Marion plant of the Quaker Oats Co. as annual profit-sharing checks were distributed. The wage bonus plan added about a week's extra pay to employers' regular individual earnings during Quaker's recently ended business year.

L. L. Kreuter, plant superintendent, explained that the week's earnings were only about one-quarter of those received by employes in Quaker's Chicago headquarters and in its 12 older plants which reach nearly across the country.

Because the Marion plant is new, he went on, employes here did not have the opportunity to share in the full year's earnings. Profit-sharing checks go to all permanent employes, with eligibility chiefly dependent upon six months or more of service. However, he said, Marion employes who are still with us at the end of the current business year will share fully in any profits.

All told, Kreuter said, Quaker's profit-sharing wage bonus this year was $785,435. This is the twelfth year that Quaker has shared its profits with employes. The plan, voluntarily established by management in 1936, sets aside for this purpose each year a fixed percentage of Quaker earnings after preferred stock dividends, but before taxes and common stock dividends. Its purpose is to provide employes with an extra income during years of good earnings over and above their regular wage rate. During those 12 years, employes have received a total of $6,576,361 under the Wage Bonus Plan.

A note from R. D. Stuart, Quaker president, accompanied each profit-sharing check. He pointed out that the payroll for the group was nearly 33 per cent higher for the business year ended June 30, 1947, than for the previous year. He attributed this increase to wage boosts granted during the year, and to the employment of additional workers.

He continued by forecasting the current year would be a difficult one, and by asking the help of each employe in raising production and sales and in trimming costs.

Smouldering Feud In Supreme Court May Flame Anew

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27—The supreme court feud between Justices Robert H. Jackson and Hugo Black may be headed for a showdown this fall.

Jackson, in his unprecedented statement from Nuernberg, Germany, 14 months ago, took his colleague sharply to task for participating in a 1945 portal-to-portal mine pay case filed by Black's former law partner.

He said he would speak out again if there ever were a repetition of the circumstances. Black never replied publicly.

The United Mine Workers, winners of the 5 to 4 decision, were represented by Crampton Harris, Black's one-time office partner in Birmingham, Ala.

Now Harris has returned to the court with a new case, this time as counsel for the Jackson Securities and Investment Co., of Birmingham.

He has asked the high court to review the company's claim it is entitled to pay for services in obtaining a tenant for a property owned by the Prudential Insurance Company of America.

The court will announce early in its new term beginning in October whether it will grant the company a review.

If the decision is to grant the review, Black then may indicate whether he has decided to eliminate himself from the litigation.

If he does not do so, and the court agrees to hear arguments by Harris, Jackson likely will be heard from.

Jackson was on leave from the bench as chief American prosecutor at the Nazi war crimes trial when the long-smouldering feud finally broke into the open.

U. S. Approves Plans For Control of Atom

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 27—The United States today approved a series of proposals for formation and operation of an international agency for control of atomic energy. This country was the first to take such action.

Frederick H. Osborn, United States representative on the UN atomic energy commission, also expressed this country's regret the Soviet Union took no part in drawing up the papers.

Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko said he preferred to hear the views of other delegates before stating Russia's position.

The United States and Russia still are in strong disagreement on the fundamentals of atomic control, with no change in positions in sight.

DIVIDEND DECLARED BY MANSFIELD FIRM

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Aug. 27—The Empire Steel Co. today declared a third quarter dividend of 50 cents a share and an extra dividend of 25 cents a share and announced the election of A. J. Krantz, Dover, O., as the firm's vice president, secretary and treasurer.

The board said the dividends would be payable Sept. 17 to shareholders of record on Sept. 5.

Krantz, now secretary-treasurer and general manager of Reeves Steel Mfg. Co. at Dover, will succeed O. C. Henkel who resigned yesterday, Empire Board Chairman James M. Hill announced.

Krantz also will serve on the board.

Hill said the stockholders, at a meeting yesterday, also elected Sam J. Reeves, vice president of Reeves Steel Mfg. Co., to the board of directors of Empire Steel.

Lakefront Air Strip Opens at Cleveland

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27—Cleveland's Lakefront air strip, only a few minutes from the center of the business district, was ready for business today.

The municipally operated landing spot, large enough to accommodate small private aircraft, runs from East 12th to East 26th street, north of Memorial shoreway.

The strip is expected to be a busy spot over the weekend when private planes fly in with spectators for the National Air Races. At present the port contains no buildings, but next month construction will begin on several small hangars.

In today's formal opening ceremonies, military planes from the Ohio Air National Guard and the air reserve training detachment at Cleveland airport were scheduled to take part.

Dutch Accuse Indonesians Of 500 Truce Violations

By The Associated Press

BATAVIA, Aug. 27—Netherlands army headquarters accused the Indonesian Republican army today of 500 separate violations of the United Nations cease fire order which became effective on Aug. 4, and listed 85 Dutch soldiers as killed, 234 wounded and two missing since that date.

These casualties, a communique declared, compared with 24 killed, 178 wounded and 16 missing during the two weeks of active military operations which preceded the truce.

Eight Dutch soldiers were reported killed and 14 wounded yesterday.

Today's Dutch communique reported fighting less than 30 miles northwest of Batavia, where Netherlands troops were said to have dispersed Indonesian forces with heavy losses to the Republicans.

15 KILLED IN RAID ON TRAIN IN INDIA

By The Associated Press

LAHORE, Pakistan, Aug. 27 — Two U. S. state department employes said today a Sikh mob held up the train on which they were riding, killed 15 Mohammedan passengers and twice attempted to force a way into the Americans' compartment.

Lt. Col. Charles Caple of Little Rock, Ark, air attache to the U. S. embassy in New Delhi, and Miss Jane Loranger of Sacramento, Calif., U. S. information service employe at New Delhi, said their train was stopped Sunday at the village of Muir.

The Americans said the Sikhs smashed their compartment window and attempted to break in their door. They forced the adjoining compartment and slaughtered three men and a woman.

Villagers watched from rooftops and the wall surrounding Muir.

Caple said troops at the junction city of Bhatinda removed 11 bodies from the train and left aboard five injured, four of whom died before the train reached Ferozepore, where a military guard of 20 troops was put on.

Georgia Minister Freed On Bond in Poison Death

By The Associated Press

SUMMERVILLE, Ga., Aug. 27—Rev. Gordon Miller was free under bond on a manslaughter charge today pending a grand jury investigation of the death of a member of his flock who drank poison to prove his faith at a rural religious ceremony last Friday.

G. W. Agnew, a farmer, posted $1,500 bond which city court Judge C. D. Rivers set for the preacher's release following a hearing in the case yesterday. Rivers ordered a murder charge against Miller reduced to manslaughter. The judge said possession by Miller of unmarked poison was illegal.

Earlier, Willis Davis, brother of the dead man, Earnest Davis, 33, offered to put up his home to obtain the preacher's release.

Clarence Blackman, a witness at yesterday's hearing, testified that Davis drank a potion which Miller said was strychine, to prove his faith. He became ill a half hour later, and after prayers of the flock failed to bring improvement in his condition was taken to a hospital where he died.

SURGEONS' COLLEGE ELECTS MARION MAN

Dr. Plymale Made Associate Fellow in Group.

Added recognition in the medical profession was received last week by Dr. Jay L. Plymale, Marion orthopedic surgeon, who received notification that he had been elected to membership in the American College of Surgeons. It is the second distinctive honor Dr. Plymale has received in the past six months, as earlier in the year he was named an Associate Fellow in the International College of Surgeons.

Dr. Plymale is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan university and the Washington University Medical school in St. Louis. Following his graduation, he took his internship starting in 1936 in the South Carolina Medical College hospital at Charleston and the Medical College of Virginia hospital at Richmond. He served as resident surgeon at Valleyview Hospital, Ada, Okla. and at University hospital (St. Francis Division) in Columbus.

In 1940, Dr. Plymale opened his practice here when he conducted until 1942 when he entered the Army medical corps. He served with the armed forces for three years, 20 months of which was spent in the European theater of operations.

Dr. Plymale served as chief of the orthopedic section of the 32nd Evacuation Hospital, serving the late General Patton's Third Army, from "D" Day to the Battle of the Bulge. He also served as orthopedic chief at the 131st General hospital at Blanford England and after V-E Day lectured to French and American surgeons in the Hotel Bieu and Hospital de la Piete, two of the leading hospitals in the Seine Base group near Paris.

He was returned to the United States at the conclusion of the war. He left the medical corps with the rank of lieutenant colonel, resuming his practice here at his office at 367 South Main street. Dr. Plymale is married and has three children. His residence is 305 Powhattan street.

New Premier of Greece Begins Forming Cabinet

By The Associated Press

ATHENS, Aug. 27—Premier-designate Constantin Tsaldaris emerged this morning from his third conference in two days with U. S. Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh and announced he intended to proceed at once with the organization of a new Greek cabinet of his own choosing.

This apparently precluded formation of a broadened coalition government. It was expected that the names of the new ministers would be announced within a short time.

Greece has been without a cabinet since Premier Maximos Demetrios resigned last Saturday.

Luginbuhl Funeral Services Held Today

Special to The Star

KENTON, Aug. 27—Funeral services for Francis J. Luginbuhl, of Bluffton who was electrocuted Monday while operating an electric welder in the Mallow Farm shop, Ada, were to be held 2.30 p. m. today at the Ebenezer Mennonite church near Bluffton, with the Rev. Howard Landis officiating.

Luginbuhl who was killed instantly while repairing a beet loader, leaves his wife, Susannah, a three month old son, his mother, a brother and a sister, all of Bluffton.

POLICE SEEK OHIO WOMAN ENDANGERED BY RABIES

Vacationing Victim of Cat Bite Sought after Animal Dies.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Aug. 27—Police of three states today were on the lookout for a new teal-blue Packard sedan as they searched for a Cincinnati woman to advise her that a cat which bit her two weeks ago has died—of rabies.

The woman, Mrs. Louis E. Dubuque, may be unaware she is in "urgent need of Pasteur treatment for rabies," the Cincinnati police department said last night, in a message broadcast to law enforcement officers in Ohio, West Virginia and Virginia.

The message was broadcast at the request of a relative, police said, who reported after Mrs Dubuque was bitten by the cat, she and her husband, a manufacturers' agent, left on a trip in their new sedan, Ohio license 698-DX.

The relative advised, police added, the Dubuques were in Decatur, Ill., Monday and plan to drive to West Virginia and to Virginia, via Hamilton, O., but did not have further details of their itinerary.

Marion Couple's Child Dies in Lima Hospital

Funeral services for Harold Daniel Runkle Jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Runkle of 269 Superior street were held today at Rockford, O., according to word received here.

The infant, born at St Rita's hospital in Lima Aug. 25, died two days after birth. Mrs. Runkle is a member of the faculty at Edison Junior High school and teaches eighth grade English. The couple has been spending the summer with Mr. Runkle's parents in Lima.

U.S. OFFICIALS JOIN PARIS CONFERENCE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27—The United States hustled its top ranking diplomatic policymakers off to the 16-nation Paris economic conference today as the first American participation in planning European recovery under the Marshall plan.

They are George Kennan, director of the state department policy planning board, Charles Bonesteel, special assistant to Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett and former chief of the strategic and policy section on the war department's general staff.

The state department's announcement of their departure by plane said only they are to make consultations with Undersecretary of State Will Clayton, Jefferson Caffery, U. S. ambassador to France, and other American officials "on state department matters, including the problem of European recovery."

However, it is assumed that two will lay before the conference an appraisal of what may be expected from the United States try to put Europe back on its feet. The conference, which is expected to finish its report Sept. 1, has been called for such information.

If Stomach Gas or Sour Food Taste Robs You of Sleep

Here's How You May Help, Whether You Eat 500 Pounds or 2000 Pounds of Food In a Year

You can't feel cheerful, be happy and sleep well, if your stomach is always upset. As age advances the "old stomach" needs more help. The reason is this:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that 8S8 Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the 8S8 Tonic formula which contains very special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, 8S8 Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is 8S8 Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people 8S8 Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of 8S8 Tonic from your drug store today. 8S8 Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Marion Minister Builds Auto Trailer Chapel For Service Among Migrant Workers in West

A Marion family which has felt a call to fill a religious need among migrant workers of the western states will leave next week for their home mission work.

Rev. and Mrs Elmer Andrews and family will be located near Litchfield, Ariz., where they lived for a time previously. The parents and four children will make the trip by automobile and trailer. The latter, which has been in process of construction since last December, is arranged so that it can be used for services, a portable Navy chaplain's organ having been installed for music, and loud speakers set in windows will carry messages and music of the organ and record player to the hearers. Other equipment of this "traveling Gospel unit" is a tent with a portable bench seating capacity of 100.

For some time, Rev. Andrews has been engaged in evangelistic work at various places. He has held Sunday evening services recently at Mingo, O., and at Bellefontaine and Lima. His last service in Marion will be tonight at Emmanuel Baptist church where he will speak on "Missions in the Home Land."

Ordained Last Year

He was ordained into the ministry April 8, last year, in Emmanuel church. He first became interested in the religious problems of the migrant workers when the family lived previously in Arizona and he was working there. Youngest of the children, Paul, 5, was born in Phoenix. The three older children are James, 15, Leroy, 12, and Doris, 10. Mrs Andrews is the former Miss Mary Bebout of Marion. Rev. Andrews was born in Virginia. They returned from Arizona in 1940, and have been making their home at 323 West Fairground street.

Becoming interested in the hundreds of migrant laborers' camps in the area of Phoenix, with no place or means of worshipping within 50 miles, Mr Andrews determined to establish at least a Sunday school for one of the camps. This was done at Citrus park, and among the congregation were Mexican people and Negro workers who had never been in a religious service before. Others of the workers were people from areas of Oklahoma and other states where dust storms had demolished their homes and had taken away their means of making a living. These people had turned to harvesting crops of more fortunate regions to earn their livelihood, traveling from one crop to another.

Studied for New Work

Their camps are composed of from 300 to 1,000 families. When the Andrews family returned here, Mr Andrews began study for his intended work by enrolling in correspondence courses of the Moody Bible institute in Chicago. He studied also in classes offered their congregation by various local ministers including his own pastor, Dr. C. E. Hersney of Emmanuel church. He took a position as foreman in the burning department of the Marion Metal Products Co. to make a living.

It was at the Metal Products shop that Rev. Andrews constructed the 20x8 foot trailer and equipment. His gratitude is great, he declares, to company officials, G. E. Herr and L. C. Dickerson, general manager and superintendent, respectively, for their permission to do the work there. The trailer he describes as having the features and appearance of a regular manufactured trailer job, with completely welded assembly. Inside, it is constructed of plywood, and the outside is all of aluminum. To complete the furnishings, he said, only thing needed is another daveno or folding bed.

Children Enthusiastic

The children are eager to make the trip, their mother said. Three will attend school at Litchfield, where the oldest boy attended previously. Schools in Arizona begin later than they do here, and it is believed the children will miss not more than a few days of classes.

Labor Day Program Completed at Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug 27 — With the exception of some last minute reports, plans are nearly complete for Galion's big Labor Day celebration. A meeting of the committee of which H. W. Bradley is chairman, was held Monday night.

The day's program will begin at 10 a. m., with an N C O tennis tournament at Heise park, Bradley said. The parade will start at 1 45 p. m., at the Big Four railroad station, and will proceed west on Harding Way to Gill avenue, then north to Heise park, through the park and in front of the bleachers near which the reviewing stand will be placed. Arthur Manzer is chairman of the judges' committee. The parade will be headed by state police, city officials, Galion police, Labor Day officials, and bands. Many floats are expected to be shown in the parade.

Other activities of the day will feature a baseball game at 2 30 p. m., at the East Side ball diamond, community games in Heise park under the direction of Waide Gerhart; airplane stunts, Shetland pony rides for the youngsters, swimming contests in the municipal pool.

Both afternoon and evening fireworks have been planned. The afternoon display is slated for 4 p. m., while the evening fireworks will start at 8 p. m., and will be concluded with the Niagara Falls display. For the picnickers at the park, the committee will furnish free coffee and cream.

Color is associated with other senses. Most people flatly refuse to eat bread or mashed potatoes stained blue or purple, even though it is harmless and tasteless dye.

Victor D. Campbell, 88, Dies at Marietta

Record Entry List In Coon Dog Trials

Special to The Star

KENTON, Aug. 27—A world's record entry list of 439 dogs for the 1947 running of the Leafy Oak National Coondog Field Trials has been announced by Manager Ralph Woodward. The trials will be run Sunday, Aug 31 and on Labor Day, Sept. 1, on the Walton Farm, two miles east of Mt. Victory. Manager Woodward said that in the face of large entry list, it is possible that the finals in the Leafy Oak may have to be run on Tuesday, Sept 2.

Friday evening, more than 20 persons were present for the drawings which resulted in the scheduling of 41 heats for male dogs and two for females. First dog drawn was "Dr Pepper" belonging to Charles Fisher of Lawrenceburg, Pa. The elimination heats will get underway Sunday morning at 7 30 a. m.

There will be six semi-finals events and these will probably get under way Monday afternoon. Mr Woodard assures the public there will be no lack of parking space for autos.

Somersville Youth, 19, Suffers Bullet Wound

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 27 — William Clayton Smith, 19, of Somersville was taken to the office of a local physician Tuesday morning suffering a bullet wound through the chest, according to Sheriff Homer Roosa.

The wound, which was self-inflicted by a bullet from a .22 calibre rifle was not serious, the sheriff said, the bullet passing through the shoulder without touching any bones.

Smith's wife, Anna Lou, 16, last week filed suit for divorce charging neglect and cruelty. Smith is to appear for a hearing Thursday on a previous charge of assault filed by his wife.

BUCYRUS NATIVE DIES

BUCYRUS, Aug. 27—Cousins living in Bucyrus have learned of the death in Miami, Fla., of Earl C. Schwartzkopf, 59, native of Bucyrus and former commercial artist at Toledo. Burial was made in Miami. Mr. Schwartzkopf was born in Bucyrus, the son of Jacob and Emma Seiser Schwartzkopf. He went to Toledo in 1906 and for 20 years was a leading commercial artist there. He gave up his business to devote his entire time to painting in 1940. His widow, Eva, and a brother, Jacob of Toledo, survives.

Mrs. David H. Aller Rites At Bucyrus Thursday

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Aug 27—Rites will be conducted Thursday afternoon in the Munz Funeral home for Mrs. David H. Aller, 48, South East street, who died of a heart attack at her home Monday night. Burial will be made in Oakwood cemetery.

Born in Bucyrus township, Feb 11, 1898, Mrs Aller was the daughter of John and Cora of Barrier Pahl. Her marriage to David Aller took place Oct. 29, 1919. The husband and four children, Mrs C M Spurlock, John, Armeda and Donna, all of Bucyrus survive with a brother, Curtis Pahl, and two sisters, Mrs R. G Margraff and Mrs Ralph Mitchelson.

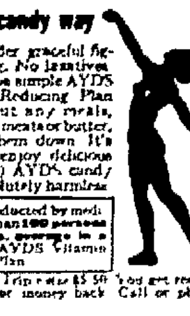

MARRIED AT BUCYRUS

BUCYRUS, Aug 27—The marriage of Miss Mary Sapback, daughter of Nick Sapback of Bucyrus and John Lefler of Deshler took place by candlelight in First Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon. The Rev C. D. Loehr performed the double ring service. Maid of honor was her Kathryn James. Lefler was best man.

"I can't say definitely that this ... be a part of the ultimate ... plan but can give assurance that all proposals will be thoroughly and carefully considered," Mr. Lindblom said.

Program Reviewed

After giving a brief review of the history and purposes of the Scioto-Sandusky conservancy program, he outlined the procedure which must be followed before an official plan becomes effective. The conservancy district was organized under the laws of Ohio late in 1934 with part or all of 17 counties between Lake Erie and the Ohio river included. The purpose originally was specified as flood control and water conservation. Then in 1937 the legislation was amended to stipulate that the purposes would include conservation for domestic, industrial and public uses and to provide for collection and disposal of sewage. Steadily diminishing water supplies and pollution of streams were the circumstances bringing about this amendment.

Authorities and experts agreed that setting up an official conservancy district to solve these problems would be far more efficient and less costly than permitting each locality to handle its own situation, Mr. Lindblom said. With separate, local projects, there would be lack of coordination and no likelihood of accomplishing satisfactory results, he pointed out.

Danger of Unrelated Action

He declared, also, that permitting such separate projects would be certain to leave some needs of the region still to be met with resources already exhausted and not wisely used. He said there is also danger that, unless a plan is prepared while there is time for careful deliberation, a plan including ill-advised provisions will be rushed through and built to meet an emergency. He emphasized that the program must be viewed from a district-wide standpoint, without special favoritism to any group or area, but taking into consideration the urgency and magnitude of the various needs.

The only definite authorization thus far, the district engineer told his audience, has been for levy of a three-tenths of a mill assessment on each of the 17 counties in the district to meet the cost of preparing a plan. That work is now under way. As outlined by Mr. Lindblom, the preparation will include consulting various groups throughout the district to get their opinions and reactions. This, he said, is to be done thoroughly, for those in charge realize that the ultimate plan must be one that best suits the needs and wishes of the people.

After the plan is finally decided upon and completed, it will be submitted to the conservancy district's board of directors. Public notice of this will be given in newspapers and through other mediums so that all who wish may inspect the plan and file objections. After hearing objections the board will adopt the plan it deems best and the people will be immediately notified of this action.

Any further objectins from the people will be filed with the conservancy court, made up of the common pleas judges from the 17 counties of the district. Only after thorough and detailed hearings by this court and its ultimate approval of a plan can actual construction work get under way.

No community need fear that some plan it doesn't like will be forced upon it, Mr. Lindblom said. It must be approved by the governing body of that community before it can be acted upon by the conservancy board, he told his Marion audience.

"Suggestions from all interested groups will be welcomed as this program is developed. It is the wish of those in charge that you will feel that any plan adopted is your plan, one that meets your approval," he said.

The speaker originally scheduled to appear before the Rotary club was E. W. Dillon of Columbus, attorney for the Conservancy district. He was unable to be present and Mr. Lindblom accepted an invitation to come as a substitute.

The speaker was introduced by Paul Williams, Rotary program chairman.

Guests of the club in addition to the speaker were Harley Roby of Minerva, O. and Frank E. Beatty of Wenatchee, Wash., Rotarians, and A. Powell, William K. Davis, Otis Porter, Forrest Loudenslager and Henry Krigbaum, all of Marion, Roy Holdridge of near Marion, W. Calvin Leonard of Mansfield, Gerald Shumaker of New Winchester, Ward Dennis of Columbus, Clarence Lenz of Alliance, and H. N. Morris of Sheffield, Ala.

Committee Heads Appointed by K. of C.

Marion Council, Knights of Columbus met Tuesday night and announcement was made of the appointment of Robert Axe as general chairman of the council's five-point program. He will be assisted by the following chairmen: Robert Garster, fraternal activities; Ted Frericks, council activities; James Kirby, Catholic action; Joseph Dunn, membership, and Robert McAndrews, publicity. Announcement of appointment of members to the committees will be made at the next meeting Sept. 9. Plans call for the publishing of the calendar of events for the coming year at this meeting.

The club discussed entering several bowling teams in leagues this fall and final action on this will be taken at the next meeting.

Repaint City Buses To Pre-War Color

Marion city buses are being painted a brilliant yellow and green so riders can see them coming, Ray Maag, president of the Marion Rapid Transit Co., said today.

He explained that these were the colors the buses were originally painted, but that during the war it was difficult to obtain such paint.

Tests by other transit companies have shown that such a color scheme will be noticed sooner at a greater distance than will a more subdued pattern, Mr. Maag said.

Several of the buses have already been repainted and all of them will be in the near future.

Miss Berenice Kirk Wed at Prospect

Special to The Star

PROSPECT, Aug. 26—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kirk of North Elm street are announcing the marriage of their daughter Berenice to Cecil Oehler, son of Mrs. Emma Oehler of near Prospect.

The double ring ceremony was read at 8:00 o'clock Saturday evening, Aug. 16, 1947 in the Prospect Lutheran church parsonage by Rev. Paul E. Dobberstein, pastor of the church.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Cleo Schmidt and the bridegroom's brother, Mr. Carl Oehler served as best man.

Mrs. Oehler graduated from Prospect High school with the class of 1946 and has been employed at the Marion Loan Co. Mr. Oehler graduated from Prospect High school in 1944, and is now employed at the Standard Oil Co. in Marion. At the present they are making their home in Prospect.

"substantially reduced" supplies of food to restaurants.

In addition, the period during which people can stay at a hotel without surrendering ration books was reduced from four days to two. Import of certain luxury foods, to be announced later, was prohibited.

"Steps are being taken" the announcement said, "to limit the number of, and attendance at, public luncheons and dinners."

Foreign travel for pleasure after Oct. 1 was virtually outlawed for British citizens by the new regulations, which said the provision of foreign currency for that purpose would be "wholly suspended."

The recently announced limit of £35 ($140) for pleasure trips abroad will take effect immediately, rather than on the previously announced date of Oct. 1, and the government urged no one take a vacation abroad next month "unless he has already entered into commitments which he cannot break."

September thus will be the last month Britons can vacation outside the sterling area.

Another blow was complete abolition of the basic gasoline ration, recently reduced from allowances for 270 to 180 miles a month.

The No. 10 Downing street announcement made it clear that these economies may be followed by still further cuts. Of "even greater importance" the statement said, is increasing production.

"A detailed announcement on our export policy will be made during the second week of September," the announcement concluded.

City's New Fire Truck Arrives To Await Acceptance Tests

The new $15,000 fire truck bought as a replacement for a 32-year-old truck at the East Mark street station arrived from the New York factory via railroad yesterday afternoon.

The truck is at present stored in the rear of the Central station where it will remain until the acceptance tests are made by the factory representative. Harry Singer of Youngstown, delivering engineer, is scheduled to arrive next week to conduct the tests. Testing place will be at McKinley lake.

The new truck is made by the American France Foamite Corp. in New York and is the first equipment purchased since the quad truck was delivered in March of 1943.

A new modern feature of the machine is the placing of the cab in front of the engine thus affording better vision for the driver. The divided windshield is slanting and is almost directly over the snub-nosed front. Over-all length is 27 feet and the 200-horsepower V-12 engine is located directly behind the cab. It is painted in the two-tone grey adopted as the official fire department color a few years ago, and is striped in gold.

Standard equipment include a two-stage centrifugal pump with a rated capacity of 750 gallons of water per minute at draft and 1,000 gallons per minute from a hydrant; 1,200 feet of 2½ inch hose, 500 feet of 1½ inch hose, 200 feet of booster hose mounted on a reel at the rear; two 10-foot sections of suction hose used to draft water from a lake or cistern, 14-foot roof ladder, 25-foot extension, axes, crowbars, plaster fork, fog nozzle, etc.

The truck has two dual wheels in the rear, single wheels at the front and is equipped with four lights in the rear, seven on the front and lights in each of the cabs. The engine compartment is in a cab-like section.

Another modern feature is the arrangements of the 200-gallon booster tank. On most of the older trucks, the tank must be filled with a funnel placed in the opening. On this the top of the tank is slanted so that the water may be dumped from buckets on either side and it will flow into the screened opening thus making it an easier job to keep the tank filled.

Hannegan To Announce Resignation Move Soon

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27—Postmaster General Hannegan said today he probably will decide in the next two weeks whether to resign as chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Hannegan told a reporter his blood pressure is now normal and he wants to keep it that way. He thus indicated if his doctors say he should slow down he will give up the more strenuous of his two posts—the party chairmanship.

The decision is expected to be announced well in advance of the national committee meeting which Hannegan said he will call for some time in October to pick a date and site for the 1948 national convention.

Giants Nip Marion, 4-2; Zanesville Beats Muncie, 5-4, To Gain Gam

Edington or Graney To Pitch Second Tilt Against Springfield

By DON C. BURTON

Three runs in the top of the tenth inning broke a 1-1 tie and gave Springfield the opening game of the series over the Marion Cubs, 4-2. The Marion rally in the bottom half of the round fizzled out after one run had scored.

The two teams hook up again tonight in a single game which will be the last appearance of the Giants here this season. Either John Edington or John Graney will work on the hill for the Cubs. Dayton is booked for a single game tomorrow night.

Last night's fray was a hurling duel between Jitts Lawrence of the Cubs and Tony West, star right hander of the visitors. Lawrence bested West in about every department except the runs. Jitts allowed only two hits through the regular nine rounds and should have been the victor over the regulation route by a 1-0 score.

Score Unearned Run

The Giants got an unearned run off Jitts in the sixth when the usually reliable Roy Hollingshead booted two grounders to allow the only run up to that time. Bob Shuford tied things up in the eighth when he drove one of West's fast balls over the right field wall for his ninth home run of the season. Without the unearned run by the visitors in the sixth this should have been enough for Lawrence to win.

In the tenth Lawrence walked Vince O'Grady and John Vanderhaar beat out an attempted sacrifice. The bases were filled with none out when Mellon also bunted safely. Bill Scally singled to load the bases again. Lawrence then walked Bill Metral to force in the third run of the inning.

Rosin in Town

Bill Rosin who has been out of the lineup for four weeks with a broken finger returned to Marion yesterday from his home in Birmingham, Mich. He will be unable to work for a while because the injured digit is still stiff from the fracture.

Gene Bobzean has been out of the lineup for several days because of a strained abdominal muscle. Bob Shuford is filling in at the shortstop position.

Bums Gain Full Game, Making Lead 8 and 1/2

By The Associated Press

Zanesville's Dodgers stretched their lead to a comfortable eight and one-half games over the second place Marion Cubs in Ohio State league play Tuesday night.

The Dodgers posted a 5-4 win over the Muncie Packers at Zanesville where Tom Sieradski hung up his ninth victory against no losses.

Lima's seven hits were not enough to push even one man past second base, as Dayton blanked the Terriers, 6-0. Frank Calo provided some third inning fireworks, homering with two Dayton mates on base.

Bob Pottenger had a perfect night at the plate and scored three times as the Richmond Roses piled a 7-4 defeat on the Newark Browns.

Need for Public Backing of Booster Program Shown by Harding Football Financial Report

Grid Sport Must Pay Own Way And Deficit in Other Activities

At least a partial solution to the serious financial problems which have troubled Harding High school athletic officials in the past may be provided by the new Football Betterment Program being set up this fall.

As a first step in this program, a free Harding intrasquad game will be played at the stadium Wednesday night, Sept. 3, to mark the opening of the campaign to sell season tickets and solicit donations for payment on the new bleachers being erected on the east side of Harding stadium field.

Through a loan of $8,000 by the Marion Boosters club, the Harding High School Athletic association was able to acquire these bleachers, which will have a seating capacity of 1,692. To raise the additional $2,000 needed to complete payment on the $10,000 bleachers, the Boosters club is cooperating with the association in conducting the drive for ticket sales and private contributions.

High school officials explain that the sale of reserved season tickets will assure considerably more constant gate receipts than was the case under the old system of selling separate tickets for each game. In the past, gate returns have fluctuated appreciably for different home games, thereby bringing on rather serious financial problems.

New Ticket System

Under the new system, reserved seat tickets for the season, in the permanent concrete stadium, will sell at $5 each for adults, covering the six home games in 1947. However, it is expected that sufficient seats will be available following the season ticket sale to permit the sale of some seats at $1 each on the night of each home game. Adult general admission tickets in the new steel bleachers will go on sale at each game at 75 cents each.

Harding High attendance figures in recent years have been fairly high in comparison with other cities the size of Marion. However, the net income from high school athletics presents a much different story.

1946 Attendance Figures

In 1946, the five home games on the Harding schedule drew a total of 12,633 spectators, or an average of 2,526 per game. The top attendance was 3,823 for the Harding-Barberton game. The second biggest turnout was for the Harding - Columbus Linden McKinley contest, which drew 3,342. The all-time record for Harding football attendance was set at the 1945 Harding-Mansfield game, which attracted 4,138.

The total gate receipts for the five home games last season were $6,522.02. A total of $1,276.15 of this went for federal and state taxes, leaving net gate receipts of $5,245.90.

Net Average Low

This figure divided by the total attendance of 12,633 gives a net income of approximately 42 cents from each ticket. This relatively low average is explained by the fact that only 6,627 adults were included in the total attendance. Of the remainder, 3,695 were students, 2,041 were small children and 270 were persons holding complimentary tickets which require the payment of a service charge.

In 1945, when the total attendance was 15,306 for six home games and the total gate receipts amounted to $6,183, the net income from each ticket averaged only 33 cents.

Where Football Receipts Go

The total gross receipts from Harding football in 1946 added up to $9,715.13. However, the total expenditures were $9,283.14, so the net income from the sport was only $431.99. The biggest item of expense last seasan was equipment which accounted for $2,449.95 of the total.

With an increase of $431.99, football had to bear the financial burden for all other sports on the agenda for the 1946-47 school year. There was a deficit of $572.82 from basketball for the past season, $1,025.86 being taken in and $1,608.68 being paid out.

Baseball, from which the school derives no income, showed a deficit of $394.02 last spring while track, another non-income sport, cost the school $320.49.

POPLAR BYRD TOUTED AS "JUG" RACE BET

By International News Service

DELAWARE, Aug. 27—Poplar Byrd, owned by veteran harness horseman Tommy Berry, was touted today as the horse to watch in the $40,000 Little Brown Jug to be raced at Delaware, Wednesday, Sept. 17.

The highly regarded three-year-old pacer is slated to go to the post tomorrow in an $11,500 ... at Duquoin, Ill. At that time he will match strides with Forbes Chief and Goose Bay, who have been grabbing most of the laurels this season for colts of that age and gait.

The English-born Berry is pointing for this year's Jug. Last week at the Milwaukee Grand circuit meeting the colt was unveiled for the first time this season. He wound up second behind Forbes Chief but in front of Goose Bay, who was third.

Poplar Byrd was the leading money winner of his age and gait last year, having stored up $28,498.16.

Goose Bay, however, has turned in the fastest mile of the season for a three-year-old pacer. He toured the Goshen, N. Y., oval in 2:00-2/5. The best effort over a half-mile track was made by Forbes Chief, a 2:03-1/5 at Goshen's smaller oval.

Indications are that as many as 15 colts may go to the post for the coveted Jug.

Forest Lawn Shoots For Softball Crown

The Forest Lawn softball team can take the Sunday School league second round crown by defeating St. Mary 1 at Garfield park tonight. If St. Mary wins, a play-off game will have to be scheduled. The teams tied, 6-6, earlier this round.

TOLEDO WINS TOURNEY

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 27—Toledo's Schmidt's Beers were the state men's 1947 softball champions today, going through a five-day tournament undefeated and winning with a 1-0 whitewash of the Columbus 740 A. C. in last night's finale. In the semi-finals, Columbus eliminated J. and T. Beer of Lima, 5-4.

EX-GIANT PITCHER DIES

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 — Hugh McQuillan, 50, who pitched for the New York Giants of the National league in the early 1920's, died last night.

PROSPECT TO LAUNCH TOURNEY TONIGHT

The annual softball tournament at Prospect Community park will open tonight with a pair of games. The Prospect Legion team will open with a game with Shanty Town of Marion at 8:15. An hour later Crestline will play Williams-McNabb of Columbus.

The tourney will continue Thursday with the district champions, Ashland Strine opposing Universal Cooler. The second game will find Smitty's of Marion meeting Richwood.

The third round Friday matches Baldridge Tires of Upper Sandusky with Post 72 of Mansfield in the opening game and Tong Implement of Marion playing Binegar Appliance.

The winners of the Prospect-Shanty Town game will play the winner of the Crestline-Williams McNabb tilt Sept. 2.

The other game Tuesday night will match the winner of the Ashland-Cooler game with the winner of the Smitty's-Richwood contest.

The semi-finals will be held Sept. 3 and the finals Sept. 5.

Talk Concerns Cards, Brookl But Braves Still Eye Loop Fl

By The Associated Press

The talk in the National league, day by day, is about Broo and St. Louis, but Beantown followers of the third place Br Braves haven't given up hope yet.

Manager Billy Southworth of the Braves is squeezing his mat to the limit. He has his left-hand hitting lineup, and his right- crew, and he has two top-notch pitchers in Johnny Sain and lefty Warren Spahn.

"But he hasn't enough pitchers," Brave detractors contend, and for a while this week it looked that way as the St. Louis Cardinals walloped Sain and Spahn on successive days.

But last night Southworth countered with Big Bill Voiselle, the fugitive from the New York Giants who didn't like the climate of the Polo grounds and who was pleased to be traded away from Mel Ott to the Braves in exchange for Mort Cooper.

Doing Well with Braves

Voiselle had only won one and lost four with the Giants, but he's won five and lost three since then with the Braves. His latest being the flossy three-hitter he threw at the Cardinals last night as Boston won, 5-1.

It saved the Braves from a Cardinal whitewashing in the three-game set, and it also cost the Cards a chance to make up valuable ground in their pursuit of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Earlier the Dodgers, hard-pressed for pitchers, saw three of them—including Dan Bankhead, first Negro moundsman ever to fling in the majors, take a 20-hit macerating from the seventh place Pittsburgh Pirates who collected a 16-3 victory.

The big right-hander was treated cavalierly on the mound, but in his first trip to a big league plate, he cracked a two-run homer in the left field stands. That was the high point for Bankhead.

The New York Giants thanked big Johnny Mize for yesterday's 7-6 win over the Chicago Cubs.

Gets 42nd Homer

Mize drove in five runs, including the winning one in the last of the ninth; hit two singles his 41st and 42nd home ru the campaign, to go four g and two days ahead of Babe R 1927 record when the Ban collected his big 60.

In the American league Marchildon of the amazing P delphia Athletics had a pe game in hand against the C Ind Indians tied in the cou 1-1.

In the 12th his long dr drove in Pete Suder with the ning run, as he gathered the longed 2-1 decision.

The league leading New Yanks trailed most of the and tied it up at 3-3 in the only to have the St. Louis Br come back to take it in their 4-3.

The Boston Red Sox and troit Tigers traded third during the afternoon, the T lambbasting the Sox for a victory in the first game doubleheader for a temporary vantage. But Tex Hughson a four-hitter at them in the a piece as the Red Sox ave themselves with a 9-1 triump regain the second perch.

The Washington Senators the remaining game on yester slate, 4-3, from Chicago Sox pitcher Eddie Lopat. got two singles and a doub one-third of his team's outp but Walter Masterson's nin performance was too much overcome.

STOCKS EXPERIENCE MODEST RECOVERIES

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 27—Modest gains were enjoyed by selected rails and industrials in today's stock market although many issues stumbled.

Gains and losses of fractions to a point or so were pretty evenly divided near the fourth hour.

A certain amount of buying was credited to thoughts of a possible rally after Labor day and another bonus spending dividend, some momentum and purchases of stocks for investment purposes resumed.

Among most of the time were Armour Wood, United Merchants, Chesapeake Sante Fe, Southern Railway, N. Y. Central, Youngstown Sheet, International Harvester, Caterpillar Tractor, J. C. Penney and Montgomery Ward.

American Telephone was a soft spot along with International Paper both yielding better than a point. Backward at intervals were Hersney Chocolate, U. S. Rubber, U. S. Steel, Northern Pacific, American Can, American Smelting, Chrysler, Union Carbide and Texas Co.

Jr. C. of C. Report Given on Ball Game

At a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night at Republican headquarters also a report was made on the recent donkey baseball game, and a statement was made expressing thanks to the public for its support. Announcement was made that pro football season tickets are now on sale through Jay Cee members with Don Flach and W. M. Collins heading up sales. Tickets may be purchased also at the Smith Clothing store and Vance Sporting Goods store, or buyers may call 6018 or 9672 for delivery, it was stated. Jack Lautenslager reported that he attended a regional meeting Sunday in Mansfield where the speaker was Carl Kelkofer, national Junior Chamber of Commerce treasurer. Another business meeting will be held Sept. 2 at Republican headquarters.

Jail Terms Separate Young Married Pair

By The Associated Press

SALISBURY, Md., Aug. 27—A teen-aged married couple was separated today by being sentenced to different prisons, with the girl awaiting birth of a baby she said she was expecting in December.

The couple was sentenced by Circuit Judge Levin Claude Bailey on charges of cashing 11 forged checks. Police said part of the money was used to buy a baby carriage.

The husband, 18-year-old L. Brooks Hart, Jr., was sent to the state reformatory for males for an indeterminate term up to five years. His wife, 17-year-old Frances Joanne, was ordered confined to the state reformatory for females for a term not to exceed one year.

Judge Bailey observed that Mrs. Hart "tried to take the rap in this case because of her condition."

In 1940, less than 15 per cent of rubber consumed in the United States was produced from domestic sources.

Dividend Voted By International Detrola

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Aug. 27 — A dividend of 25 cents per share payable Sept. 15 to shareholders of record at the close of business on Aug. 29, 1947, has been voted by the board of directors of International Detrola Corporation, President C. Russell Feldmann announced today. (Universal Cooler of Marion is a division of International Detrola).

This twenty-third cash dividend of the company applies to approximately 1,220,000 common shares outstanding and follows a similar payment made on May 31 of this year. Detrola's manufacturing operations include steel and steel products, refrigeration and air conditioning units, home and automobile radio receivers, phonographs, aircraft power plants and sub-assemblies, special machinery, and other items.

It is estimated that there are 14 to 18 square feet of skin on the average adult human body.

FOOTBALL

Smith, Harding High financial director, shows a total deficit of $865.34 in the four sports for the 1946-47 school year. This reduced the High School Athletic association fund balance to $1,545.92 as of June 3, 1947.

Equipment to Pay For

High school officials state that $4,200 in uniforms and other equipment has been ordered and that much of it is expected to arrive this season.

It is pointed out that it would have been impossible to order this equipment and provide for the construction of new bleachers with only the $1,545.92 athletic fund balance available. However, with the inauguration of the Football Betterment Program, high school officials hope that payment on both the bleachers and equipment can be completed within the next few seasons.

The Football Betterment Program, in addition to providing for construction of the 1,892 new bleacher seats, and the sale of reserved seats on a season basis, also includes an overall improvement of Harding stadium facilities.

The average normal adult human body contains from eight to 10 points of blood.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

KATHARINE dashed toward the bedroom door to answer Mary's bell.

But Dicky caught my arm as I was following her.

"Ask Katrina if it will be okay for me to see Mary for a few minutes," he said. "Of course I'll say nothing out of turn, but I know the brat pretty well, and I think I'll be able to tell if she's got any gnawing worries inside her."

"I'm sure you will," I told him, and hurried after Katharine, finding Mary sitting on the side of her bed, her eyes serene, and her face wearing a rested expression.

"You see I didn't fall asleep like a good girl," she was telling Katharine. "And now I'm raring to go. Don't you agree with me that I'd better get my darling feminine inlaws all done up in lavender and old lace before I tackle my lines?"

"Yes, I think that's a very good plan," Katharine agreed, and I struck in abruptly.

"There's a relative who isn't an in-law in the next room who requests an audience if Aunt Katharine gives permission."

Face and Eyes Glowing

Mary's face and eyes were glowing as if someone had lighted a candle behind them.

"You mean Uncle Dicky, of course," she said. "Oh, Aunt Katharine, you couldn't be so cruel as not to let him in!"

"No, even I am not that hard-hearted," Katharine returned, laughing. "Here, let me fix your combs. You're looking all right except for your hair being tumbled a bit."

I went to the door, beckoned to Dicky, and the next minute he was in the bedroom, hugging Mary tightly, then holding her off and looking her over with keen scrutiny.

"Well, Brat," he said at last, and I knew from his tone that he was satisfied with what he saw. "You've made the grade, I see. Gad, you're the eighth wonder of the world!"

"Thank you, darling Nunkie," Mary said. "You always know just the right words to say. You're better than a tonic. Please sit down and talk to me."

But I saw Katharine almost imperceptibly shaking her head at him from her position back of Mary.

"Can't do just now, Brat," he said sorrowfully. "I'm just at the finish of that damned drawing, and they're bedeviling the liver right out of me until I get it sent over to them. But I'll be back later."

"It's a date! Don't forget!" Mary called after him gayly as he went out, and then Katharine was at her side with a glass.

Eyed It Doubtfully

"Drink this," she said, and Mary eyed it doubtfully.

"More dope?" she queried.

"Indeed, no," Katharine said. "Just drink it."

"Why, it's heavenly!" Mary exclaimed when she had drained the glass. "What is it?"

"Just a concoction of my own, guaranteed to give you vim and vigor," Katharine said. "Now sit over here, and let me fix you up with the proper cosmetics for seeing your in-laws. You want to look your best, don't you?"

"Surest thing you know!" Mary declared, and I started for the door.

"I'll tell them it will be all right to come up—when?" I asked.

Mustn't Wait

"As soon as they can," Katharine replied. "I don't want this girl to sit around too long waiting for anything today."

"You're spoiling me," Mary said, looking at her affectionately.

"You can stand a little spoiling after what you've been through," Katharine told her, and I hurried to the telephone.

Philip Veritzen answered its ring.

"Mary is all right?" he asked, anxiously, I was glad to hear.

"Yes, indeed," I said. "May I speak to Olga please?"

"Does that mean that Olga and Olina may come up?" he queried.

"Yes, it does," I told him, "but I have something I specially wish to say to Olga."

15 Miners Ask Lewis To Reopen Contract

By The Associated Press

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 26—John L. Lewis has been asked by 15 central Pennsylvania locals of the AFL-United Mine Workers to reopen the wage contract signed last month to obtain more pay for miners working on a tonnage basis.

The request came from a committee headed by James Richardson of Beaverdale, Pa., who pointed out that the new contract raised the daily pay of northern miners from $11.85 to $13.05 but did not change the rates paid to thousands of diggers working at non-mechanized pits on a tonnage basis rather than a flat daily scale.

Leaving the amount to be sought open for discussion, the committee called a meeting for Sept. 7 when further action is expected.

Napoleon left correspondence unanswered six weeks in the expectation most of it would answer itself by then.
